BAYARD AND SEWALL

Their Views on Samoan Affairs Were Not in Concord.

THE CONSUL GENERAL STEPS OUT

He Tells a Startling Story About Bayard's Pusillanimity.

GERMANY AND ENGLAND IN LEAGUE

Their Aim Embraces the Supremacy of the Sandwich Islands, as Well as Samoa—A Recital of Many Outrages

WASHINGTON, Feb 7.—Harold M. Sewall, consul-general to the Samoan Islands, has received a notification from the state department that his resignation would be acceptable on the ground that his views were not in harmony with those of the administration.

MR. SEWALL'S STATEMENT

Germany and England in League to Obtain Supremacy in the Pacific

WASHINGTON, Feb 7.—An Associated Press reporter called this afternoon upon Sewall, and asked for a statement of the reasons given by the state department, in its request that he should tender his resignation as consul-general at Samoa. Mr. Sewall in reply, said:

"The reason given in the letter asking my resignation is the divergence of some of my expressed views with the views entertained by the state department in regard to Samoan affairs. This refers, I suppose, to the testimony I have given before the senate committee on foreign relations, and which has not yet been published. No disapproval of my conduct in Samoa as consul general, has ever been expressed by the state department so far as I know. Last Thursday I was discharged by the committee, and affairs in Samoa being in the most critical condition I immediately made arrangements to return there. No intimation was given that I should not be allowed to do so until within a few hours before my intended departure, when I was notified to remain here. The purpose was obvious. My services were needed immediately if at all. Another steamer would not sail until March and it was the evident intention to detain me until after the incoming of the next administration, upon which, as is known, I have not the slightest claim to political recognition.

"No," continued Sewall, "I did not thereupon tender my resignation. I had done nothing wrong. I had too much respect for Bayard to assume that I had offended him by my testimony before the committee. Besides, I was under oath to tell all I knew of Samoan affairs and to withhold nothing. The views that I expressed on the situation, and the remedy necessary, were given at the request of the committee. It was not for me to consider whether these views accorded with Bayard's or not. I do know, however, that my views coincided with those of all Americans who have given the matter any thought, the state department excepted, for which I cannot speak."

GERMANY'S [illegible] PURPOSE

"What are those views, Mr. Sewall?"

"I believe," said Sewall with deliberation, "that the disposition of Malietoa was determined upon before the conference of the three powers began, and that it was the German intention to carry out the policy it had decided upon regardless of that conference. The purpose of Germany is to secure control of Samoa in defiance of the solemn and repeated assurances it has given our government. [illegible] Lord Salisbury's [illegible] against [illegible] Anglo-German attempt to secure the supremacy of the Hawaiian islands."

"What in your opinion will be the effect of the dispatch of American ships of war to protect our interests in Samoa?"

"I concur with Mr. Bates, our late commissioner to Samoa, in his published opinion that Admiral Kimberly can accomplish nothing under his instructions from the state department. Bayard expects Admiral Kimberly to succeed in doing by protest what he has been trying without success to do for years.

"Does Bayard suppose the protest will turn Germany from the course she has been steadily pursuing?

"I believe with Secretary Whitney that a different policy should be adopted in Samoa. To send our ships there with only their present instructions is simply to subject their officers to humiliation, or as Secretary Whitney says (using the polite term out of respect I suppose, to Bayard) to irritating conditions, from which their self respect makes them revolt. But Secretary Bayard [illegible] Secretary Whitney or Mr. Bates. I am the weakest, and am therefore singled out for sacrifice."

Sewall said that whatever his personal opinion of the attitude of Bayard in Samoan affairs might be, he had during his entire term of service, loyally and implicitly followed the secretary's instructions, notwithstanding the fact that they had placed him in a false and humiliating position.

OUTRAGES ON AMERICANS

In reply to the inquiry as to whether German aggression had been going on for so long a time Sewall said that the recent news from Samoa which had so aroused the country, was only the repetition of what had happened before.

"Why," said he, "a great stir has been made by the announcement that martial law has been declared by Germany in Apia, but this is not the first time the German Consul has declared martial law to be in force. German sentinels, even before Americans had been deprived of their right to a joint vote in the government of the town, had been commanded to shoot, until dead, men not answering the challenge, and notice, giving warning of this, was posted in German script only. The American banner was torn down by the Germans and trampled on. When war was declared against Malietoa Apia was occupied without notice to Americans. A leading American merchant standing on his own land was knocked down by a German soldier, who on his return to his ship, was imprisoned for not having bayonetted the man.

"I myself, was stopped on a highway of Apia even before war had been declared and the officer whose command had taken possession of that part of the town, threatened that I would be shot if I proceeded. German sentries were posted around my consulate at night. It is for testifying to these facts I presume, that my resignation was asked. Is it not natural that I should differ from Mr. Bayard as regards a policy, if such it can be called, which permits these thing to be done?"

THE SAMOANS MISGUIDED

"Were my regrets," said Sewall, "at the loss of our prestige in the Pacific by our submission to Germany's aggressions against Samoa the measure of my humiliating experiences, I could await patiently the publication of my testimony, and the certain results of an aroused and intelligent public opinion. But, to my lasting chagrin and sorrow, misled by Bayard and acting under his instruction, I misled the weak and suffering Samoans into fresh misfortune. Upon Mr. Bayard and myself, as an innocent instrument obeying his instructions, must rest in a large measure, the grievous responsibility for the distress which now threatens the very existence of the Samoan people.

"When I arrived in Samoa, the insurrection of Tamasese, fostered by German officials for purposes now made plain, was on the point of disintegration. Malietoa, who had been repeatedly held back by our representatives from asserting his authority, had determined to tolerate this no longer. The day after I arrived I received instructions, the purport of which was to restrain him. I did so, giving him to understand, as Bayard gave me to understand, that neither he, nor his people would be allowed to suffer. Malietoa yielded at my solicitation and our national honor was pledged that we would insist upon our treaty right to the independent existence of Samoa. I could not better have served German purposes than by this mission of mine. As a matter of fact the public documents now before congress show that the instructions in obedience to which I acted on this occasion were sent me at the instance of the German and British ministers. In less than a month German ships arrived. Malietoa and his chiefs were deported, and the man whose life I had saved by my intervention was installed in Malietoa's place.

"A pitiless persecution was begun against the Samoans suspected of friendship for our flag and German control was as effectually established as if under open annexation. Having restrained the Samoans when they could have destroyed Tamasese, and with his destruction the basis for German interference, I urged their submission, trusting that, finally, when the truth was known, our promise to them would be fulfilled and our own honor saved by the restoration of the status before the conference, when I gave Malietoa such faint advice. In justice to myself and in the hope of securing it for these wretched people I speak as I do.

THE GOVERNMENT WARNED

"Before leaving for Samoa I had been about the state department and with the president at odd intervals for a month explaining the situation, pointing out the inevitable result of German proceedings and warning them that that would happen which has come to pass. When the rising of Mataafa became known and the German fleet was ordered to return to Samoa I asserted positively to Bayard that there could be but one motive in this and that, to actively assist Tamasese in fighting Mataafa. Bayard repeated to me fresh assurances from Bismarck that Germany did not [illegible] who was king, but immediately on the arrival of the German ships with the new German consul, Dr. Knappe, we find them siding with Tamasese and precipitating the conflict for which the Samoans will be forced to pay heavily.

"Realizing the unfortunate predicament of our people and bitterly conscious of our obligations to the Samoans, I sought to get from Bayard instructions that would enable me to assert our [illegible] position. But all the instructions received [illegible] a copy of an apologetic note to the German [illegible] that on account of an alleged [illegible] interview with me and fresh assurances [illegible]."

THE [illegible] BERLIN CONFERENCE

Regarding the action of the state department in accepting Bismarck's proposition for a conference at Berlin, Mr. Sewall said that he concurred with everyone who has studied the question, that the restoration of the status quo should be preliminary to any negotiations.

"Bismarck's proposition," he said, "to renew the [illegible] conference on German ground means [illegible] Minister Pendleton is sick. Whoever represents us is likely to be removed from American public feeling, and, moreover, is not likely to be well acquainted with the subject. Weber, for years German consul in Samoa, and Becker, late German consul there, together with a host of other officials who know Samoan politics, are in Berlin and will aid Bismarck. Weber was in Washington during the conference here coaching the German minister. Besides, the history of our negotiations with Germany, as pointed out by Bates, should caution us and make us reluctant to accept any assurances, for they have been made most freely on the eve of her most important movements there."

FROM BERLIN

LONDON, Feb 7.—The Standard's Berlin correspondent says: "It is understood that England will consent to the proposed Samoan conference. It is not likely, however, that the conference will sit for some time yet. The various accounts of the Apian fight assert that Klein fired the first shot and incited the Samoans to the attack."

ANOTHER ALLEGED OUTRAGE.

An American Vessel Boarded by Men From a Portuguese Man of War.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Feb 7.—Another insult has been offered the American flag, this time by Portuguese. Information has just reached this place, although the incident occurred October 3, 1888. The whaling vessel Mary Frazer, of Edgerton, landed members of her crew at Caldiras, Isle of Pico, where their families were, the sailors being natives. While ashore Captain Lapham was asked how much tobacco he had on board the bark and stated that he had twelve boxes containing 100 pounds. The bark was on the high seas. The captain returned to his vessel, and cruised about, awaiting the return of his men from the island. A Portuguese man of war appeared and an armed crew boarded the Mary Frazer. The captain entered a protest against the action of the Portuguese and declared that his vessel was outside the jurisdiction of any Portuguese man of war, at the same time pointing to the American flag. The Portuguese gave no reply, but searched the vessel, only to find that the captain had told the truth about the tobacco.

THE DEPARTMENT'S EXPLANATION

WASHINGTON, Feb 7.—The attention of Assistant Secretary of State Rives was called to-day to the dispatch from New Bedford, Mass., giving an account of the outrages perpetrated upon the American whaling vessel Mary Frazer by being seized by the Portuguese man of war [illegible] off an island of the Azores. After reading it through Rives said it was an old case and that his department had been cognizant of it for some time. He said that Congressman Davis of Massachusetts was interested in the vessel and had called upon him in December last about it. Rives considered the case as simply a revenue one. The vessel was seized for smuggling tobacco. The captain of course denied the charge, but the commander of the Portuguese gunboat filed charges and was supported by the testimony of one of the crew of the American vessel. The captain was tried and sentenced to pay a fine of 200,000 reis, about $100. He then appealed the case to the supreme court at Lisbon, where it was still pending.

As Captain Lapham could not give security for the costs of the appeal and fine, he gave up the vessel to the authorities pending the result of the appeal.

The state department could do nothing in the matter until full particulars and documents arrived, which are expected this month. Then if it is found that Captain Lapham was not given justice, the department would interfere. He did not believe there was anything wrong in the action of the Portuguese authorities under the circumstances.

FROM INDIANAPOLIS.

Wanamaker No Longer Looked Upon as Certain of a Cabinet Appointment.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb 7.—Among the politicians who are making up the cabinet slate the name of Wanamaker is now to be seen in the background among the "might have beens." The cause for the change is the utter inability of any one here to give anything like a semi-authentic assurance that his name was ever actually put forth for a cabinet place.

Of the new names being canvassed to-day those of Judge William A. Wood of Indiana, Honorable James H. Wilson of Delaware and John M. Thurston of Nebraska, are the most prominent. Perhaps no name, however, unless it be Windom's, is growing in public favor with greater rapidity than that of ex-Governor Foster of Ohio.

Alabama had another delegation to-day in the persons of Colonel James Jackson and Judge John A. Stevens of Tuscumbia. They claimed that their visit was of a social nature, but it leaked out that they were opposing Mahone and had brought with them some strong testimonials and petitions in favor of ex-Governor William H. Smith of Alabama for attorney general.

Chairman Huston, who unexpectedly arrived from Florida to-day, had an hour's conference with the president-elect this afternoon. The arrival of Huston and his departure for New York this afternoon are both regarded as bearing directly upon the cabinet making.

HOTEL BURNED IN FLORIDA.

The Occupants Escape, but Lose All Their Possessions.

SUTHERLAND, Fla., Feb 7.—The new Hotel Sutherland here was destroyed by fire early this morning. The guests and help narrowly escaped with their lives in their night clothing. A large excursion party from Omaha were the only guests, and all of them lost their clothing, jewelry, purses, etc., valued at many thousands of dollars. Nothing was saved. Several ladies were severely burned, though no lives were lost. The hotel was valued at $80,000.

A Financial Crisis.

MONTEVIDEO, Feb 7.—On the bourse excited fears are expressed that the fortnightly liquidation will prove disastrous. The national public works shares are quoted at 33. The transitory crisis had no effect upon trade or the National bank. The government and merchants generally approve of the bank's action in refusing to support the recent excessive speculations.

An Officer's Dishonesty.

WINNIPEG, Feb 7.—A summons has been issued against Lawrence Herchmer, commissioner of the Canadian Northwest mounted police, on the charge of smuggling liquor into the Northwest territory. It is claimed that he has derived an enormous revenue from the illicit business, the sales being made chiefly to the mounted police.

DESPITE THE VETO.

The Senate Passes the Bull Run Bill, 23 to 6.

SPEECHES FOR AND AGAINST IT

Full Text of the Minority Report on Northup's Pilotage Bill.

PORTLAND'S COMMITTEE ON HAND

Discussion of the Question of Portage Railways—The Senate Passes a Reapportionment Measure—Detailed Proceedings

SALEM, Feb 7.—The Bull Run water bill passed the senate over Governor Pennoyer's veto at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Twenty-three voted aye, six no and one (Dawson) was absent. Three democrats—Irvine, Veatch and Wager—and three republicans—Dimick, Looney and Tongue—voted to sustain the veto, and the other six democrats—Cauthorn, Chandler, Cogswell, Hamilton, Raley and Stanley—voted to overrule the veto. All the other republicans voted for the bill. Those who voted against the passage of the bill a few days ago were Dawson, Veatch, Looney and Irvine.

The bill and the veto had been made a special order for 2 P. M. to-day and at the conclusion of the roll call upon reassembling at the hour named President Simon announced: "The order of the day is the reconsideration of senate bill No 17. The question now is, Shall the bill pass notwithstanding the veto of the governor?"

Every senator except Dawson was at his desk and the lobby was uncomfortably crowded while many sat within the bar. At times the doorway was blocked so as to be impassable. The audience took great interest in the arguments for and against non-taxation of the bonds and frequently applauded, compelling the chair to insist on order, and once he had to threaten that he would clear the lobby unless order was preserved. Many of the interested spectators were representatives who could not resist the temptation to stroll in and hear what was done. More were present when the house had the Pendleton charter under consideration than at any other time, because the subject was, like all incorporation bills, exceedingly dry.

The Multnomah senators never doubted for a minute that Pennoyer's veto would be overruled. At noon one of them told an OREGONIAN reporter that the bill would have twenty-three votes, and the roll call verified his prediction. Tongue well knew what the outcome would be and he said so, and the only reason why he said so much in opposition to the passage of the bill was because he wanted to make his position thoroughly understood.

As soon as the chair had explained the question Tongue was recognized and he began immediately to make a long speech which he devoted to an effort to establish the unconstitutionality of the bill. He argued that it was not good policy to exempt the holders of good, valuable property from taxation and impose a great burden on other classes; that the policy of exempting property from taxation if inaugurated in the case of the Portland water committee would eventually end in having many millions of taxable wealth stored away in non-taxable bonds, as other cities would claim the privilege extended to Portland.

Tongue then read from section 1, article 9, and from a number of authorities to establish the unconstitutionality of the measure, and the fact that the legislature had no power to exempt bonds or any kind of credits from taxation unless they are for municipal purposes. "If Portland is getting so poor that she cannot build water works without asking for the issuance of non-taxable bonds," he said, "let her pass the hat and we will all help her out."

There was a ripple of applause in the lobby when Tongue finished.

Wager held that water bonds were not for municipal purposes and that the legislature had no right to exempt them, because they became private property when they passed into the hands of their purchasers. Wager read from Pennoyer's veto message in support of his statement. At one point he created a great deal of amusement by solemnly saying, "I will read further as it (the message) is as good an argument as I could make myself."

In answer to Wager's charge that no friend of the bill had seen fit to answer Tongue's argument, Barin said that the reason was because there was nothing to answer, as the authorities cited by Tongue were not in point, no case relating to taxation of municipal bonds having been brought up, and that the authorities read were all against the statement that all property should be taxed. Barin made an excellent argument for the bill and wound up by dubbing all that Tongue had said as bosh.

Cogswell said that bonds are a part of the municipal machinery and were therefore non-taxable. If the non-taxation clause is unconstitutional the courts can declare it void and inoperative and no one will be injured but those who may purchase the bonds with full knowledge of what they are doing and the risk they are taking.

"What do the people of Portland care where the bonds are sold—in Portland or New York?" said Wager. Then he charged that the object of the bill was not to benefit a single inhabitant of Portland, but for the aggrandizement of that close corporation known as the water committee.

Barin said he would vote for exemption of bonds every time the growth of a city was aided thereby.

Watts spoke of Tongue's inconsistency in regard to the constitution. The other day he declared the bill for an appropriation for a road from Pendleton to Canyon City was unconstitutional, but when the bill for a road from Olney, Clatsop county, to Greenville, Washington county, which latter county he represents, came up he argued that it was constitutional. Now he declares the water bill unconstitutional after having voted for its passage.

At the request of Carson the report of County Surveyor Hurlburt of Multnomah to the water committee, of his examinations of the source of Bull Run, was read to the senate. It was published in THE OREGONIAN last October.

Carson then explained what the water committee had done in the way of reducing rates, purchasing riparian rights and construction of headworks at Bull Run. All that remains to be done, he said, is to enable the committee to purchase pipe, lay it, and bring the water into Portland.

Veatch held that the bill was unconstitutional, because the bonds became private property.

"Are county warrants taxed?" asked Barin.

"That is not the question under consideration," replied Veatch. [Laughter.]

Carson said that it is just and right to the people of Portland that this bill should pass, and they should have good water. It is a great public work and will be of great public benefit to the people of Portland, because water will be cheaper. If the bonds are taxed where will the tax come from? Not from the capitalists who hold the bonds, but from the poor people who consume water. The fund to redeem the bonds, said Carson, will not be raised by a direct tax, but by a sinking fund arising by setting aside surplus water rents, so that it is easy to see that the consumers will finally redeem the bonds. The Portland water committee has already reduced rates [illegible] per cent., and it is calculated to make a further reduction of 25 per cent. in the next few years if the bill passes. [illegible]

[illegible] for the poor man, the health [illegible] for they are directly interested. If the bonds are taxed water rates will be raised and the poor man will be [illegible]

[illegible] If the bonds are taxed they will not bring over 90 cents [illegible] a loss of $140,000 on [illegible] will bring a premium of [illegible] of $120,000 on the purchase. If the bonds are taxed the entire loss to the city would be the difference between the discount and the premium, or $270,000.

Watts spoke strongly for the bill and said Portland should have pure water. Much of the sickness of the city, he said, was caused by drinking water from that great sewer, the Willamette river, into which was emptied the sewerage of the penitentiary, the asylum, and every city on its banks.

Tongue said the penitentiary was as near the Willamette river as Watts's ideas were to constitutional law.

"Don't you know," said Watts, jumping up, "that the penitentiary is on Mill creek and that Mill creek empties into the Willamette?" [Laughter.]

"I have been pretty busy while I have been in Salem," said Tongue, "and I have not had time to find out where the sewers and creeks empty."

Tongue said it was unkind of Barin to declare all his statements bosh. "I can furnish arguments," he said, "but if I have to go further and furnish mental grasp to comprehend them it is more than should be expected of me." [Laughter.]

Barin reiterated that Tongue's authorities were not to the point.

At 4 o'clock the discussion ended and President Simon put the question: "Shall the bill pass notwithstanding the veto? All those in favor of the passage of the bill will say aye when the roll is called; those opposed no."

The roll was then called and the vote resulted as follows:

Ayes—Barin, Carson, Cauthorn, Chamberlin, Chandler, Cogswell, Eakin, Fullerton, Gray, Hamilton, Hatch, Hilton, Mackay, Moore, [illegible], Raley, Sinclair, Stanley, Steel, Wait, Watkins, Watts, Mr. President—23.

Nays—Dimick, Irvine, Looney, Tongue, Veatch, Wager—6.

Absent—Dawson—1.

President Simon then announced that the bill had passed notwithstanding the veto. [illegible] will be sent to the house to-morrow.

Representative Thomas of the house committee on commerce has prepared the following minority report on Northup's pilotage bill, recommending that it pass without amendments:

SALEM, Feb 7, 1889.

Mr. Speaker: The undersigned, a minority of the committee on commerce to whom was referred house bill No. [illegible], beg leave to submit the following, viz:

The committee have had the same under advisement since January 29, and have taken all the testimony we could obtain on the subject embodied in the bill, and heard the arguments for and against its enactment.

The main object of the committee has been and the aim of this legislature will be to determine whether or not the enactment of this bill will make the cost of shipping from Portland to the sea cheaper than it now is or would be under the provisions of the bill recommended by the majority of the committee.

After mature deliberation I assert that it would. One of the greatest divergences between the present law and house bill No. 7 is in regard to the number of pilots who shall be allowed license [illegible]; another is whether or not a tug boat may be allowed to employ its own pilot. The present law allows the pilot commissioners to restrict the number of pilots to any number they may see fit. It also prevents owners of tug boats or employes thereof from receiving a pilot's license or acting in the capacity of pilot.

I maintain that both of these provisions are unjust and that they present, so long as they remain in force, an unsurmountable barrier to that free competition which more than all else would tend to reduce and regulate this branch of commerce.

The opponents of this bill argue that if an unlimited number of pilots be allowed a license that so many will engage in it that none of them will be able to maintain a livelihood. They also argue that if owners of tug boats or their employes were allowed to act as pilots they would so reduce the pilotage that those who are now so employed would be compelled to seek other vocations.

Both of these propositions show conclusively that this service can and will be done cheaper if this bill becomes a law.

Then it is said that if tug boats were allowed to carry pilots they would reduce the pilotage and advance the price of towage, thus making the cost [illegible] as it now is. I believe this is a fallacy, as there is and can be no restriction on the number of tug boats except the demand for them regulated by the amount of shipping to and from the ports of Astoria and Portland.

It is further argued that this bill is being put forth solely in the interest of the people of Portland to the detriment of the state, an argument which I think is without foundation. For the interests of the whole state are identical in cheapening of freights, and if Portland cannot make shipping to the sea as cheap as the ports of Tacoma and other ports in Washington territory, a vast amount of the produce of the country, which has been shipped by way of Portland, will be diverted to the seaports.

In view of these facts, Mr. Speaker, I recommend that house bill No. 7 do pass without amendments.

J. A. THOMAS.

Although the majority report is signed D. P. Thompson, chairman, the amendments which it contains are by no means the sentiments of that gentleman. On the contrary, he is and has been opposed to the amendments. Messrs. Parker, Short and Morelock constituted the majority of the committee on commerce, and these instructed the chairman to report the bill with the amendments which were sent to THE OREGONIAN last night. The bar pilots, who have no desire to lose the high wages which they now receive, are making use of every known method of the lobbyist to secure a sufficient majority to defeat the bill or to so load it down with amendments that its purpose of making lighter the burdens upon the commerce of the Columbia river, a matter in which every farmer in the state is directly interested, will be defeated.

Neither the majority nor the minority report has been presented to the house, the press of other business having afforded no opportunity.

Hon. H. W. Corbett, Mayor DeLashmutt, Ellis G. Hughes, Edward Quackenbush, W. S. Sibson, J. C. Schuyler, Captain Allan Noyes and C. P. Church, of the Portland Board of Trade, the committee instructed to proceed to Salem on business relative to the pilotage question, arrived this evening. A meeting of the house committee on commerce will be held at 8:30 o'clock to-morrow, orning when the Portlanders will be on nd.

The meeting of the Multnomah delegation, consider the consolidation bill which was have been held to-night, was postponed n account of more pressing business.

The railroad committees of the house and enate met to-night to confer with Manager oehler of the Southern Pacific Assistant anager E Cookingham and General reight Agent Campbel of the O R & N o relative to Veatch's railroad rate bill r C A Dolph speaking for the O R & Co, said the classification was unjust in principle, and that if the bill passed not one of the railroad companies in Oregon would be solvent in six months Mr Dolph left a long statement with the committee which will be considered in due time.

The question of the portage railways between the upper and lower cascades and between The Dalles and Celilo was discussed for an hour to-day by the house in committee of the whole, to which had been referred the two bills on this subject now before the house—one introduced by Speaker Smith and the other by Representative Thompson Speaker Smith's bill constitutes the governor secretary of state and treasurer a board of portage commissioners, and authorizes them to build operate and maintain portage railways around the two obstructions to navigation at The Dalles and at the Cascades, appropriating —— dollars. The blank sum in the bill has not been filled Thompson's bill creates a special tax and agrees to pay $1800 a year for twenty years to The Dalles Portage Company to aid them in their work of constructing a portage railway between The Dalles and Celilo No definite result was reached in regard to the two bills and it is thought another discussion will be had upon them before they reach their final passage

Speaker Smith's bill is the one most favored, and it is not at all unlikely that it will become a law

The re-apportionment bill passed by the senate this morning is nearly the same as the one now in effect, the only changes made being in the Eastern Oregon representation Union county loses one representative who goes to Wallowa which now has none. Union and Wallowa are created a joint senatorial district, and Malheur and Baker another

When the bill came up on its final passage Watts complained that injustice was done Yamhill county whose representation in both houses was smaller than that of Washington county, which has never had a population as large as Yamhill county nor has cast as many votes at any election.

Moore thought it best that no revision be made, as a national census will be taken next year and then there will be some guide in making a re-apportionment.

Watts's bill to appropriate $478 for the relief of Joel J Hembree for territorial warrants bought by his father Captain A J Hembree a victim of the Yakima Indian war of 1856 caused another long discussion in the senate this morning and was finally passed It came up on a motion to reconsider the vote by which the bill was yesterday recommitted to the committee on claims, with instructions to make the money payable to the heirs of Capt. A J Hembree instead of Joel individually, objections having been raised to the plan of turning the coin over to him He is the administrator of the estate

After Watts had reiterated much that he has already said in favor of the bill, Veatch opposed it in a short speech not for personal reasons but because the claims had been long standing some of them being forty two years old, and he thought it unbusiness like if not crooked that they should be held out for so long a time and suddenly presented for payment.

Tongue said the affidavits presented by Watts contained not one word to show that Joel J Hembree had any right to the money or the authority of the heirs to collect it, or that Nancy J Hembree, his mother, ever devised the warrants to him All that was set forth, he said, was that the claim was a just one and should be paid

Watts intimated that the opposition to his bill smacked a great deal of personality

Tongue said that Watts had no right to make such an assertion

Watts replied that he had a right to say something inasmuch as he was charged yesterday with crookedness in connection with the bill

Veatch denied that he had said anything reflecting on the honesty of the purpose of the Yamhill senator and repeated that his objection was based on the age of the warrants

The bill was then passed

The two successful measures were Bean's bill to amend the charter of Pendleton, and Gilbert's bill to raise the salary of the state librarian from $500 to $1000 a year The defeated bill was that of Jennings of Lane, to regulate the practice of medicine and surgery, and fixing the fees therefor Dr. Fisher, of Multnomah, punctured the bill in a very few words, in which he called attention to the provision, among other foolish things, that the fee for a case of "obstetrics" should be $5, and for amputation of a toe or finger $10. Jennings voted for the passage of his bill and so did Stafford, his colleague, but all the other members voted "no."

DEATH OF HON PHILIP RITZ

A Brief Biographical Sketch of This Prominent Pioneer

WALLA WALLA, Feb 7—This afternoon about 1 30 Hon Philip Ritz died at his home south of this city For about ten days he has lain in a comatose condition the direct result of an attack of paralysis on the right side which was superseded by acute heart trouble of some six months duration He died surrounded by his family and intimate friends seemingly conscious, yet unable to make a sign

He left a will giving minute directions for the management of his large and varied interests The family are left in comfortable circumstances His life was insured for a considerable amount.

His death excites general regret, and he was recognized for his great worth and credited as the father of the fruit industry east of the Cascades as well as one who was ever ready to do all possible to develop this section of Washington territory

Mr Ritz was aged 62 years having been born in Lancaster county Penn in 18 7 He came to Placerville Cal, August 14 1850, and to Oregon in November of the same year and to Walla Walla county in November, 1862 In 1852 he was elected school examiner of Benton county Or

Coming to Walla Walla he started his now well-known nursery, which he retained and took great interest in up to his last sickness. He was United States marshal for the territory in 1869 and has ever taken great interest in public matters and the development of the country It was through his representations that engineers were sent out to inspect the route of the Northern Pacific railroad As early as 1866 he commenced an investigation by exploration of this Northern route and made several trips across the mountains becoming thoroughly impressed with its importance and feasibility In the winter of 1867 68 he determined to visit Washington and there urge this matter having to cross the continent in mid winter for that purpose

In March 1868 at the instance of the Northern Pacific railroad directors he issued a pamphlet in Washington on the agricultural and mineral resources of the Northwest territories which was printed and placed upon the table of every member of congress, and otherwise extensively circulated and which had a great deal to do with the construction of the present transcontinental railroad.

The funeral will be on Sunday

SENATE PROCEEDINGS

Operations of Swindling Claim Agents The Civil Service Law

WASHINGTON Feb 7 In the senate the conference report on the bill to incorporate the Maritime Canal Company of Nicaragua was presented by Sherman and agreed to The bill now goes to the president for approval

The committee on woman suffrage reported back favorably the joint resolution proposing a constitutional amendment to prohibit the denial of the right to vote by the United States or by any state on account of sex It was placed on the calendar A minority report will be made soon

The committee on military affairs reported a substitute for the house bill to remove the charge of desertion from soldiers of the late war and the Mexican war where such soldiers afterwards served faithfully until the expiration of their enlistment agreed to

The senate bill to suspend the operation of the section of the revised statutes in relation to the guano islands for five years from the 18th of April 1880 was passed

Cockrell expressed regret that the fourth auditor and the treasurer of the United States had permitted their names to be used by a firm of Washington claim agents as shown by a circular read yesterday He sent to the clerk's desk and had read another Washington claim agency circular offering to obtain special acts for the benefit of persons having claims for pensions This circular he said was simply an attempt to get a fee of $10 without a possibility of rendering any equivalent. Cockrell proceeded to give some other instances of dishonest attempts on the part of Washington claim agents and declared that never had been such imposition practiced on any class as had been practiced on the soldiers of the late war and their widows and orphans He attributed much of the success of the claim agents to the fact that government officials did not adjust accounts [illegible] and pay the claimants but on the contrary suppressed and concealed the facts

At the close of Cockrell's remarks the resolution went over till to-morrow without action

The house amendment to the senate bill as to the cutting of timber on Indian lands was concurred in

THE CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION

The senate then resumed consideration of the legislative appropriation bill the pending question being on Hawley's amendment to give an additional clerk of class 3 to the civil service commission

Chandler hoped that one of the first acts of the new administration would be to get rid of disreputable and incompetent postal clerks appointed since March 1885.

Allison expressed a belief that the civil service law so long as it remained on the statute book, would be fairly carried out He contended however, that its extension to postal mail clerks last December was not an extension by the commission itself, for the commission was practically not a commission since October last One of its members was confirmed as commissioner of Indian affairs, while another member had paid no attention to it since then He thought the new administration should be allowed to make rules for the extension of the law to postal mail clerks

Teller defended the last administration in regard to the fidelity with which it had enforced the civil service law

Gorman replied to Allison and argued that if there was no civil service commission now the fault was not with the president nor with the democratic party, but with the republican majority in the senate which would not allow the offices to be filled but acted on the principle that when there was to be a change of administration the wheels of government must be stopped and offices not permitted to be filled

Hoar approved the extension by Mr Cleveland of the civil service law to the postal mail clerks whether that extension came late or early.

After further discussion the amendment was agreed to

Another long discussion took place as to whether the board of pension appeals fixed in the bill at three members should be increased to six The change was made The bill then went over until to-morrow

Adjourned.

THE PANAMA RESOLUTION

Opposition to the Measure Increasing in the House Committee

WASHINGTON, Feb 7—The Edmunds Panama resolution which was recommitted to the house committee on foreign affairs was taken up by the committee to-day upon a request made by a member that he be allowed to present a minority report It appears that the outspoken opposition to the resolution which was confined to Russell of Massachusetts when the resolution was first ordered favorably reported, is growing more pronounced

Norwood of Louisiana prepared the minority report above referred to, and other members of the committee are showing signs of change The committee was obliged to adjourn this morning without allowing an expression of opinion Therefore it is not decided whether the minority will be permitted to file a report.

A member of the committee said to-day that the opposition to the Edmunds resolution would be based, in his opinion, upon a wrong view of the matter The opponents of the resolution as they have expressed themselves, have based their opposition upon two things First, that the Monroe doctrine was never intended to apply to such enterprises as a canal and could not be fairly so construed, second that the resolution in effect, denounced an enterprise that was failing, and that such an expression of sentiment would deter the investment of capital on the American continent

Some years ago government officers asked France what she intended to do in regard to the canal, and the French minister to the United States, under instruction gave the strongest possible assurances, both oral and written that the French government would never take any interest in it and that it should always remain a private enterprise Now, however with a party in the French chamber of deputies openly declaring in favor of the government assuming control of the canal, this country ought to express itself

The majority of the committee will still recommend the passage of the resolution.

GERMAN COMMENT.

The Times, commenting upon the passage of the Nicaragua canal bill by congress, says that it sees in this action a movement to establish an understanding with the Central and South American states.

ON WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

A Favorable Report on the Proposition to Amend the Constitution.

WASHINGTON, Feb 7—The joint resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution declaring that the right to vote shall not be abridged by the United States, or any state on account of sex was favorably reported to-day by Senator Blair from the select committee on woman suffrage

The report recommending the adoption of the resolution after reviewing the history of the woman suffrage movement and making some comments upon the denial of the right of suffrage to women as an injustice equal to that of negro slavery concludes as follows

Until this government shall be made and preserved truly republican in form by the enfranchisement of woman the great reforms which her ballot would accomplish may never be. The demoralization and disintegration now proceeding in the body politic are not likely soon to be arrested The corruption of the male suffrage is already well nigh a fatal disease The republican form of government cannot survive half slave and half free

The ballot is withheld from woman because men are not willing to part with one-half of their sovereign power There is no other cause, for the continued perpetuation of this unnatural tyranny. Enfranchise woman or this republic will steadily advance to the same destruction, the same ignoble and tragic catastrophe, which has engulfed all of the male republics of history Let us establish a republic in which both men and women shall be free Indeed then shall the republic be perpetual.

A minority report adverse to the adoption of the resolution reported will hereafter be presented

There are also a number of nominations pending and the caucus will decide whether they are to be reported favorably or allowed to go over until the next administration

THE PARNELL INQUIRY.

Beach, Alias Le Caron, Resumes His Testimony.

THE IRISH LEADER IN COURT.

The Attorney General Admits That Parnell Was Never Connected With the Outrages—Cross Examination of Beach

LONDON Feb 7—The Parnell commission reconvened this morning with the witness Beach alias LeCaron still on the stand He explained certain geometric designs in the constitution of the United Sections as being symbols of the secretary and treasurer In March 1884 witness was at the district conventions of the United Sections, at which Sullivan and Lomasney were present. At the convention of the United Section, now known as the United Brotherhood, held in July 1888 a delegate from Detroit, where Lomasney's widow lives brought up the question of supporting her because of Lomasney's services to the brotherhood.

Objections were made by the defense that this was not evidence The attorney general held that these organizations were really all one that the evidence was advisable because Egan Sheridan and others were directly connected with the Irish Revolutionary Brotherhood and Irish United Brotherhood The discussion was continued at length during which the attorney general admitted that he had never been prepared to suggest that Parnell or other members of parliament were personally connected with the murderous outrages His contentions were that they were allied with people whom they knew to be or could have known if they had made inquiries prominently connected for many years with such outrages. They had allied themselves intimately with the I. R B and had availed themselves of the money knowing the character of the I R. B They continued their alliance with it after the most distinct and positive notice concerning the same It had been proved that several members of the house of commons attended four or five league conventions in America where the I R. B controlled the proceedings

Egan also told witness that John Walsh and Dennis McCarthy were sent to Australia to assist the Fenian prisoners to escape. Beach said that he knew Egan was a member of the U B in 1883 and that he believed he had since continued to be a member Witness identified the report, dated September 24 1884 congratulating the members upon the increased strength of the organization. The executive the report said intended to plant seeds in every land. Strict silence concerning the work was enjoined upon the members

Witness said he visited the Southern states in November 1885 with a letter from Egan describing him as a most devoted friend of the Irish Nationalists In one circular, witness said mention was made of the expulsion of Cronan for treason to Ireland and the violation of his oath of obligation Beach was on the committee that tried Cronan

ENTRANCE OF PARNELL.

At this point Parnell entered the court room. He took a seat by the side of Davitt. Egan, witness continued was present at the league meetings in 1884 and 1885 The circular issued in March 1886, referred to the emasculated and unacceptable home-rule scheme and urged Camps to remit funds for delusion the cipher word for "dynamite At the joint convention of the "U. U B and I M B" held in Chicago in June 1888 it was urged that measures be taken for the release of Gallagher and other prisoners in England

THE CROSS EXAMINATION

Sir Charles Russell then began the cross examination of the witness Beach said he went to America in 1861. He had previously been in France, and was a draper's assistant in London and Colchester After his arrival in America he joined the army. He became a Fenian in 1865 while still in the army His object was to obtain all the information possible He swore to fight for Ireland's independence and took the Fenian military oath of allegiance He did not intend to keep the oath He never forgot that he was an English subject and British born. Knowing that a conspiracy existed he wrote about it to his father, who on his own volition, informed the member of parliament for Colchester who advised him to inform the home office From 1865 witness tried his best to obtain the confidence of those connected with the organization for the purpose of betraying it to every extent he could "I never had the slightest sympathy with the movement he said In reply to further questions Beach said

All my communications were made to my father up to 1868. I was once adjutant general of the Fenian military brotherhood and attended the council of war I considered myself a military spy in my country's service. From 1868 until February 1889 I communicated directly with the British government. My usefulness is now stopped. My communications number hundreds of thousands They were very numerous up to 1870.

The court decided to admit the evidence on the ground that the "U. B.," the Clan-Na-Gael and the "I. R. B" were practically the same body, and as it has been proved that Egan, Brennan and Sheridan, among the persons charged, were members of the "I. R. B." evidence as to what was done in the convention of the "U B." would be evidence against them. The other persons, especially the defendant member of parliament held a different position, and the court would abstain from saying anything as regards the applicability of this evidence against them

Beach then continued his testimony and said that Dillon, Egan Devoy, Samuel Morris and Donahon Connor attended the convention which unanimously ordered the executive to protect Lomasney's family. Beach said that he went to the Boston convention in 1884 where Egan told of his escape from Ireland and the destruction of the secret papers and letters

Beach declared that Egan told him, at the same convention that if Gallagher had been free forty-eight hours longer some of the best buildings in London would have been blown up

IRISH NATIONAL LEAGUE.

A Great Convention of Irishmen To Be Held at Philadelphia

CINCINNATI Feb 7—The executive council of the Irish National League, at a meeting to-day passed resolutions pledging continued support to the Irish people and leaders and appealing to the people of America for continued aid to the Irish patriots

Preliminary arrangements were made for a convention of Irishmen in Philadelphia in July at which every Irish organization shall be represented and an agreement reached on some further plan of action

Twenty thousand dollars was sent to the Irish leaders on the other side to-day

An address to the Irish people says that the tyrant tory government of England has thrown aside the forms of decency under which it has heretofore veiled its malignity, and now stands forth the remorseless executioner of naked unblushing despotism The council views with just pride the unity exhibited by the Irish people in their struggle. Bribes, menaces, and judicial murder have failed to dampen their spirit or materially crush their onward march. They are assured that their countrymen in America stand ready to support them in any steps which their wisdom and prudence may dictate The council regards with indifference, if not contempt, daily perjuries before the Parnell commission.

Reference is made to the "judicial murder" of Mandeville and to the endeavor of Balfour to keep his express word, that he would kill William O'Brien and John Dillon by imprisonment. The splendid spirit of the people says the address, shows that they are worthy of our best efforts, and should receive our prompt, effective and continued assistance, until it has been demonstrated that peaceful agitation has failed to produce in England a sense of justice and a desire to repair the countless injuries inflicted upon Ireland.

[illegible] Feb 7.—The owners of the Glencoe [illegible] of steamers state that they believe the steamer sunk by the British bark Largo Bay off Beachy Head Monday night was the Glencoe of their line. The Glencoe carried a crew of fifty-two men, all of whom perished.

The Glencoe was bound from Liverpool for London, and was last reported passed Prawle Point Monday. It is certain beyond a doubt that she was the vessel sunk. She was a three-master, iron screw steamer of 1400 tons.

THE COLLISION OCCURRED DURING A STORM

LONDON, Feb 7.—The crew of the Glencoe numbered fifty-two men, including twenty-three Chinamen. A tempest was raging at the time of the accident, and snow was falling so thickly that it was impossible for the lookout on either vessel to see the lights of the other until a collision was inevitable. The Glencoe forged ahead trying to cross the Largo Bay's bow, but failed and ran at full speed into the bark, demolishing ten feet of her bow. The Largo Bay would also have sunk had she not been provided with water-tight sections. The crew of the bark saw nothing further of the steamer, but could make out her crew struggling in the water. It was impossible, however, to render them any assistance. All of the Largo Bay's boats were smashed. The wind blew with such force that the sails of the bark were torn to shreds and the [illegible] carried overboard. The bark weathered the storm until [illegible] and towed into Dover.

PORTLAND, FRIDAY, FEB. 8.

THE OPPORTUNITY NOW.

A proposition is now submitted that will, if accepted, reduce towage and pilotage on the Columbia river and bar to the present cost of pilotage alone. The legislature has only to enact the Northup bill, and this highly important result will be gained.

The proposition submitted by Manager Holcomb, through the Portland Board of Trade, should induce the legislature at once to seize an opportunity of securing for the commerce of the Columbia river an advantage so great. "It is shown that the proposed tariff would place the cost of both towage and piloting on the bar and river on exactly equal footing with the towage charges alone between Cape Flattery and Tacoma, and would make the tariff about half the present rate." To support this statement figures are presented and members of the legislature and all persons interested may examine them.

A pilot schooner to cruise outside of the bar is regarded as a necessity, and the Board of Trade of Portland goes to the legislature pledging itself to "maintain the state pilot schooner on the Columbia river bar provided the Northup bill becomes a law."

Here is the opportunity to secure for our commerce deliverance from a great burden. The legislature is simply asked to put the law in a form that will allow the proposition to be carried out.

The result for which the people who use the Columbia river as their channel of commerce have been looking so long is now within sight and reach. Pass the Northup bill and it will be gained. But this reduction can never be made so long as the laws allow the pilots alone to collect from vessels as much, or nearly as much, as the whole sums which pilotage and towage together would cost under the proposition now made.

It is not only vital to our commercial interests, but necessary to our producers that this reduction be made. It means equality of charges at the Columbia river and at Puget sound; it means a reduction of charges that will give 2 to 4 cents a bushel additional to every producer whose grain must be shipped out of the Columbia river.

The legislature, we confidently believe, will enact the law that will assure this great result. The only opposition, under present conditions, will be that of the beneficiaries of the present system—certain pilots who want large fees and others interested with them. But are private or public interests to prevail? Here is the opportunity for deliverance of our commerce! Let us seize it!

THE LAST PRETENSION

The Roseburg Review quotes from the doings of the Methodist Church South a proposition that if the state will restore the old college board to all its old time rights and privileges, put it completely in control of the Oregon Agricultural college and all the property thereto pertaining, that body will then kindly listen to any proposition the state has to make. This is decidedly a cool way of presenting the case. The state has taken not a penny of anything of value from the Corvallis college. For a political reason the legislature once designated a school at Corvallis conducted by this college as the State Agricultural college. Since then money has been appropriated to maintain a good school there, and finally it has become a reliably good and working school of agriculture. This was ably and truthfully shown by the report of the legislative committee recently published in THE OREGONIAN. It scored the Methodist Church South as it deserved and commended the present management.

When the state took charge of the institution people made donations to purchase the present land and to build the present college building. Not a dollar of this was intended for "the Church South," but for the purpose of having an agricultural college there. The former property is in Corvallis and occupied as a school of that church. This year it has ten small girls for its pupils, and the most it ever had has been fourteen small girls. This property is what they originally had, and they have it all now. But the Review says Manager Burchett rules the Methodists South as he pleases, and is now working for a state subsidy of some considerable amount from the present legislature, holding a threat against the state of setting up peremptory claims to the agricultural college and all it has acquired under state management.

There is a general feeling of indignation at the assurance and pretension of this religious sect that would try to intimidate the state and demand something very considerable for the nothing it had to give. From the first the connection of the Methodist Church South has been an in uperable objection to this college, and it remains to be seen if the state or the Southern Methodist church is to control it, whether it is to be a prosperous state institution or a miserable apology for failure.

Even the career of a great baseball pitcher has its annoyances. Bates, who has acquired such celebrity "in the box," has been suspended from Harvard university for deficiency in his studies. As an offset to this humiliation the catcher, Prof. Clarkson, declares that Bates is growing greater in his "profession" every day. It would be a pity to let Greek roots and differential equations hamper a man in the pursuit of a diplomatic career. The Harvard faculty is to be congratulated upon the wisdom displayed in suspending the great pitcher and thus giving him a chance to pursue untrammeled the course that a lofty ambition has marked out for him.

According to the Alaskan there are citizens of the United States who will not learn the result of the presidential election before July, 1889. These are the settlers of St. Michael's, the Lee islands and those domiciled along the banks of the lower Yukon. Before anyone allows his sympathy for these denizens of the ice-locked North to become too intense he should reflect that they are entirely beyond the reach of cabinet rumors and speculations, and that even the iniquity of the inaugural ball has not been fully set before them. There are compensations, even in isolation.

The law reducing railroad fares in this state to 4 cents per mile meets with the general approval of the traveling public. A discourtesy on the part of the legislature that passed the law has, however, been noted. Railroad managers were not consulted as to whether the reduction would be "satisfactory." Such lack of courtesy is reprehensible in the lawmakers of a great and progressive state. The pilots would not have it all their own way in that case.

The items of expense for the care of smallpox patients and the burial of its victims, are similar to those of a congressional funeral junket. From the bill presented for liquors, tobacco, etc., the public might be led to believe that a "wake" was held prior to each burial, especially as the regulation treatment for smallpox patients does not include any of these things. An extravagant charge for flowers is all that the undertaker's bill lacked to make it first-class in every particular. As to the rest, it did not cost very much to feed the luckless people who contracted the disease, but then tobacco and cigars came pretty high. However, the bill, with the exception of the undertaker's, was allowed, for much the same reason that a check is ordered drawn upon the national treasury for the alleged expense of burying a congressman, because it is considered unseemly to dispute it.

One of the strongest plantation arguments in favor of slavery a third of a century ago was the assertion that the cotton fields of the South could not be worked without slaves. Experiment has proved that the cotton crop was not only not dependent upon slave labor, but that colored labor was not necessary to its production. Reports for the past year show that three-fifths of the crop was produced by white labor.

The speeches of Tongue and others in support of Pennoyer's veto of the Portland water bill were so utterly silly that they ought not to be printed, except for the purpose of putting their authors on the record. There are depths below depths in folly, but the lower depths are reached only by those who advocate taxation of the credit of the body of the people as a means of making the rich pay taxes.

Hon. D. P. Thompson did not favor the amendments to the Northup pilot bill, but reported the bill with the amendments as he was instructed to do by the vote of the committee. He will oppose the proposed amendments when the bill comes before the house.

Rider Haggard has long been suspected of employing an assistant, so great is his literary fecundity. The title of his latest story, "My Fellow Laborer," suggests an acknowledgement on his part of the truth of this suspicion.

The Chicago plumbers have had a grand ball. This is an exhibition of cheerfulness in adversity that is truly commendable. Here it is February and not a freeze up worth speaking of yet, and none in prospect.

NEW TRANSCONTINENTAL LINE

What the Montana Pacific Offers to Shippers and Passengers

The Montana Pacific through line between Portland and St. Paul, via the O. R. & N., Union Pacific, Montana Central and St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba railway, is now open for freight and passenger traffic, with as low rates and as quick time on freight as can be made by any other line between Portland and St. Paul. Passengers taking this line will pass through Butte, the greatest mining camp on the face of the earth. The gold, silver, lead and copper mines may be seen along the side of the track for a distance of nearly 100 miles, while the scenery between Butte and Helena and in the canyon of the Missouri cannot be surpassed anywhere in North America.

Palace sleeping and luxurious dining cars, magnificent day coaches and free sleeping cars for second class passengers leave Butte daily, making close connection with the Union Pacific for St. Paul. This line is laid with 71-pound steel rails, oak ties and easy grades, while the cars, both first and second class, are new and of the latest design, equipped with steel-tired wrought iron wheels, thus insuring to its patrons the greatest safety possible. Ask any agent of the O. R. & N. Co. for tickets via this line.

PORTLAND AND VICINITY

PORTLAND AND VICINITY.

A Relic of Antiquity.—One of the attaches of the court house is in possession of an old paper that he prizes very highly as a relic and curiosity. It is a small sheet of newspaper not over eighteen inches square, representing on one side several of the familiar characters of ancient history. Among the cuts were noticed, Marius, sitting among the ruins of ancient Carthage; the last moments of Julius Cæsar, representing the great ruler standing in front of Pompey's pillar; Romulus and Remus out walking with their fostermother, the she-wolf; Caligula, dining with his favorite war horse and feeding it out of a golden dish; the Emperor Nero dancing as he receives the news of the burning of Rome; the consuls waiting upon Cincinnatus, as he is plowing in the field to accept the dictatorship; brave Horatius holding the bridge that spans the "Yellow Tiber," and several others. The cuts are all made true to life and show great artistic taste in the designer. Outside of its value as a curiosity the little sheet is put to a good use on election days, and it may be added it does much good. About the time the opposing candidates become the most anxious for just a few more votes their attention is called to the scene representing Cincinnatus at the plow and his constituents waiting upon him to accept the office of dictator. It always has the desired effect.

"Stagger Weed" and Hawks.—A gentleman who was looking for a lot on which to build a house a day or two since, was asked a high price for one because it afforded a view of Mount Hood. He said he was not looking for scenery, but that some people appeared to set great value on a view of Mount Hood. While on a visit to the head works of the Bull Run water pipe, some time since, he met one of that kind of people. He had taken up a homestead away up on Cougar mountain, and seemed contented and happy. He had a boy and a girl, a calf and some chickens. The boy was kept busy watching the calf to prevent it from eating stagger weed and killing itself and the girl spent her time protecting the chickens from hawks. The outlook seemed rather gloomy for the homesteader, and he was asked how long he had been settled there. "Two years," was the answer. "What do you stay here for?" was then asked. "Oh, because there is such a fine view of Mount Hood from here," was the reply. The gentleman thought that less Mount Hood would do if accompanied by less stagger weed and hawks and more calves and chickens. Man cannot live on scenery alone.

Uncle Samuel's Work.—The bid of P. O'Neil for furnishing rock and placing it in the jetty at Coos Bay has been approved by the chief of engineers, and Mr. O'Neil entered into an agreement to do the work and filed the necessary bonds at the office of Captain Young, United States engineers, yesterday. Captain Young's project for the expenditure of the appropriation for this work—some $75,000—has been approved. This will place about 80,000 tons of rock in the jetty. Captain Young left yesterday for Coos Bay to inspect the surveys of the bay now being made there and to inspect a proposed new quarry at Bandon, the quarry from which the stone has heretofore been procured being exhausted. Captain Young will probably be gone two weeks. Mr. Lyle, in Captain Young's office, is engaged in preparing a map of the tidal area at Coos Bay. Should this make a satisfactory showing it may be that it will result in a larger harbor being made at Coos Bay.

At the North End.—The work of filling Couch lake is now progressing rapidly. With two trains running, Mr. O'Neil is putting in 730 cubic yards of earth per day. The fill will be so far advanced in a few days that work will be begun on the south 360 feet of the union freight depot. Mr. Bridges has the north end and the two story office in the center about completed and will follow the piling in the south end with the remainder of the structure. A large amount of filling is being done with teams below N street and the aspect of that section has been materially changed since the buildings were removed. There was some dissatisfaction expressed because the sidewalk in front of the union freight depot was abandoned, or rather allowed to be transplanted to the east side of the street. This is to be obviated, it is said, by constructing an elevated sidewalk along the roof of the depot, which will allow people to look down on teamsters and freight clerks. This is the first step toward getting an elevated railway.

They Rifled the Pantry.—When the cooks of the Pioneer Club, situated at the corner of Fourth and D streets, arose yesterday morning to get the members their breakfast, they found that the back door had been opened by some one during the night. Making further investigation they discovered that burglars had been in the house and had rifled the pantry. On looking into the pantry instead of seeing a well filled larder as was their experience on all previous mornings they were confronted with an aching void. The foragers had taken all the meat, game, fruits and other eatables, in fact they had made a clean sweep. There was nothing left with which to get breakfast and the butler had to be at once dispatched to order the wherewithal to make the morning meal. The foragers forgot to leave their address.

Utilizing the Crop.—There seems a fair prospect for the Columbia river sturgeon crop being utilized this season, as beside local fishermen who are shipping to the San Francisco market, there are three Eastern companies engaged in packing and shipping sturgeon East. The Pacific Fish company, with headquarters at Ranier, is shipping a carload every week or so to Sandusky, Ohio, where there is a sturgeon fishery and where the fish are prepared for market. At Columbia City another company is doing a considerable business in shipping sturgeon, while Trescott & Smith, who have a freezing house at the north end, are sending off a carload a week and expect as soon as Lent begins to ship from thirty to forty tons per week. Lent comes later than usual this year, which makes some difference in the plans of fishermen.

Why Not Proceed?—The question is being asked why does not the grand jury take up the case of Morris Johnson and Agnes Woodward, awaiting trial on a charge of murdering Frank Cunningham? The public desire it if for no other reason than to dispel the mystery and uncertainty that have gathered about the case. The defendants themselves ask it as a matter of simple justice, for they are held on a serious charge. Very little is said about these cases, but the presumption is that the prosecution is trying to secure more evidence. The grand jury have been considering several other cases of far less consequence than these and unless there are good reasons for putting off the Cunningham murder case the public will begin to think that there is nothing in it.

Potatoes a Drug.—The bottom fell out of the potato market some time since and now the hole left has fallen also. There is no demand for Garnet Chiles, and for Burbanks only 40 cents per sack is paid. A sack contains about 110 pounds, so it will be seen that there is not much for the farmer in raising potatoes at this price, notwithstanding that one farmer in the Columbia river bottom says that he raised 1500 bushels on two acres. The roads are getting in good order now and farmers are anxious to haul their potatoes to market to get them out of the way for spring seeding, and it is too bad that the market is so poor. There seems but little likelihood of any improvement in prices, as California seems to have plenty of potatoes this year.

Bit by a Dog.—Bailiff A. M. Brown, of Judge Shattuck's court, was yesterday going about carrying his left arm in a sling, as a result of a bite given him by his own dog. Brown is the owner of that ferocious bulldog "Nibs." While this particular dog and another one of the same breed were having a friendly set-to, Brown stepped in between them for the purpose of separating them. The dogs no doubt considered this an uncalled for interference, for when Brown quit he had a bitten hand for his pains.

Is Doing Well.—Mr. E. A. Wiley, of Dayton, whose leg was broken in the accident on the narrow gauge Tuesday evening, is doing well at Good Samaritan hospital. He suffered no other injuries of consequence. Mr. R. C. Gant, who was badly shaken up and bruised, has recovered from the shock, and although feeling very sore, is not seriously injured. Mr. Barzee went home the next morning after the accident. Mrs. Ray is still at her daughter's and is rapidly recovering from the effects of the accident.

Lying Very Low.—Mr. James S. Nagley, up to within eighteen months ago a well known and accomplished member of the bar in this city, is reported to be lying very low with some affection of the stomach at Caldwell, Idaho. His father, ex-Congressman Nagley, now in Europe, has been called to return. The dying man made many friends in the territory during his brief residence there, and at the last election he was elected a member of the territorial legislature.

Little Boy Nearly Run Over.—Yesterday afternoon a small urchin just escaped ending his brief career, at the corner of First and Morrison streets. He was endeavoring to cross First street and seemed to get confused among the drays and wagons. He was snatched from his perilous position by police officer No. 29 just as a loaded dray drove up. He was grazed by the hub of this vehicle and for some moments it was not known whether he had been run over or not.

Rumors About to Materialize.—The Yaquina Deep Sea Fishing Company held a meeting in Dr. Chance's office at the corner of Alder and First streets last night. This corporation is mostly composed of capitalists in Portland and it is their intention as soon as possible to push their enterprise with the utmost vigor. They will no doubt establish stations near Portland which will create an impetus in the fishing business very beneficial to this port.

A Rare Bargain.—To-morrow at 11 o'clock some very desirable property will be sold at the court house in this city. It consists of three acres, known as the "John and Nancy Wand property," fronting on the section line road not far from the old asylum in East Portland. The tract is finely elevated, has a stream of living water upon it and commands a splendid view of Portland and the surrounding country. Title perfect and unquestioned.

Important to Real Estate Men.—Owners or agents of suburban additions wishing to have them shown on the county maps, now nearly completed, will please leave the plats, with description and names of owners written on them, at the office of R. A. Habersham, civil engineer, 38 Portland Savings bank, before the 15th inst. No charge will be made, and the plats will be returned to their owners.

Crops Doing Well.—Meeting Mr. Robert Imbrie, the well-known pioneer resident of Washington county, a reporter asked him how the crops were looking. He said "the wheat is growing all the time and we have to keep it fed down. It is too early to make any predictions yet, as there may come cold days in March and cause great damage, but the prospects at present are favorable for good crops. Farmers are not seeding now as the heavy rains likely to come would mat the soil, but as soon as the rains are over we will begin seeding in earnest. In the meantime the men are pruning the orchards. I have been in Oregon forty years and have never seen such a winter as this."

Contract Cancelled.—The letter of the secretary of the interior, cancelling the contract of John Cooper, of Mount Vernon, Ohio, for the metal work of the tower of the lighthouse being built on Destruction island, has been annulled and the advertisements for letting the contract anew have been recalled. Mr. Cooper is still in the field, and will probably finish the work for which he contracted.

In a Blaze of Glory.—The festivities of the Chinese in honor of their New Year will end this evening with a grand explosion of all the firecrackers remaining. In front of Seid Back's store on Front street a platform has been built out from the second story, from which a ton or so of crackers will be lowered down in a thunder of noise and any quantity of flame and smoke.

Union Service.—The young people of the First Congregational church will hold a reunion service with the various Christian Endeavor societies of the city this evening (Friday). A fine literary programme has been provided and a lunch will be served. All young people are cordially invited to attend. Admission free.

Nebraska Interested in Oregon.—Secretary Struble of the immigration board, yesterday sent twenty three good sized boxes of advertising matter to Omaha. These pamphlets are sent to parties who solicit them, which shows that many people in that part of the country are looking toward the Northwest for future homes.

West Portland.—A correspondent writing from West Portland says: The contractors will complete the bridge at West Portland in about ten days. Mr. Bingham bought fifteen acres of land near here at $515 per acre. The surveyors are here surveying a motor line, it is said, but they refuse to say what they are doing.

Sailed from Hong Kong.—Mr. William Dunbar's bark Kitty sailed from Hong Kong on Saturday last for Portland via San Francisco, for which place she has a cargo of Chinese merchandise. She will take a cargo of lumber from here for the French authorities in Anam.

Colonel Fleischner Improving.—A dispatch was received here on Sunday from Mr. Sol Hirsch at Vienna, stating that Colonel L. Fleischner was improving and that they were about to start for sunny Italy. Mr. Marcus Fleischner was to leave for home on the 16th inst.

Gone to San Francisco.—Mr. A. L. Maxwell, general passenger agent of the O. R. & N. Co., left with his family in a special car for San Francisco yesterday afternoon. He will return in a few days, but his family will remain there for some time.

Pleasant Tidings.—J. Solling & Co. offer for sale to-day and to-morrow eighty six men's assorted suits at $10 each—a big bargain. Also twenty dozen men's heavy gray merino U. shirts at 50c per piece.

Don't Forget that to-day and Saturday we will sell $3 50 hats, soft and stiff, for $1 90 each. Don't overlook this sale if you want bargains in hats at Kohn's, corner Second and Morrison streets.

For the East Portland Baby Home.—Mrs. Harrington is authorized to solicit money, food and clothing for the Baby Home of East Portland. Mary D. Halsey, president.

Health Not Improving.—Mr. C. C. Scott, of The Gilman, who is now at Paraiso Springs, Cal., writes to a friend in this city that his health is not improving much.

That $80,000 carpet sale of the Oregon Furniture Manufacturing Company still continues. Just think of it, carpets sold at actual cost. Call in and see them.

Mason Long, the reformed gambler, will lecture at the First Presbyterian church to-night. This will be his last lecture. Admission free.

Railroad Brakemen's ball will be held to-night at Hall & Stott's hall, East Portland. A jovial time is looked for. Tickets $1.

"THE LADY OF LYONS."

At the New Park last evening Bulwer's immortal story of love and pride was re-enacted before a large audience which closely followed the thread of its narrative and enjoyed the admirable presentation of its dramatic and emotional situations given by the Barrett-Gleason company.

The Lady of Lyons shows to excellent advantage the well balanced character of the strong company which Mr. Barrett leads. Every member shows unmistakable evidence of being a hard and conscientious worker, and in most instances no small degree of talent.

Mr. Barrett's interpretation of the leading role was well conceived and faithfully portrayed, if one excepts, perhaps, his general make-up for Count Morier, which was to a degree lacking in dignity. His handling of the Prince particularly in the lighter passages was especially good.

Miss Gaffney's Pauline was in many respects original and throughout praiseworthy. Very well done was the scene between Pauline and the widow Melnotte. The latter part was taken by Miss Mamie Axtell, who completely identified herself with the part, and in a manner almost without fault.

Mr. Pollard was gruff and manly as the Colonel Dumas. Mr. Rose carried Beauseant through smoothly, a trifle mild for a heavy. Deschapelles fell into good hands with Harry Dowley, the Madame with Miss Waitland, and Glavis with Mr. Sedley.

Barring a slight unfamiliarity with the stage sets and a little halting in the lines, the performance was satisfactory throughout. The staging, though not difficult, was in good taste, and the parts exceedingly well dressed.

"The Lady of Lyons" again to-night.

PORTLAND, FRIDAY, FEB 8

THE POLICY OF PROTECTING FISH.

The Oregon legislature will be wise if it heeds the popular appeal for the proper protection of fish and game. Fish culture was practiced by the ancient Romans and by China for thousands of years, but in America fifty years ago fish commissions and fish hatcheries were unknown. Now nearly every state in the Union and the Dominion of Canada have fish commissions. We have before us the report of the fish commissioners of a New England state which is full of testimony to the wisdom of laws for the protection and propagation of food fishes. The [illegible] of the laws passed for the protection of food fishes in Lake Champlain [illegible] from one end of the [illegible] other [illegible] the report of the [illegible]

[illegible] hotels, camps and boarding houses for summer visitors [illegible] would have been deserted and the boarding houses without guests. The commissioners have also been advised of numerous instances where farmers by the aid of the law have so protected and replenished trout brooks and ponds, the fish supply in which had become so depleted as to be of no account, that they have actually realized more revenue from these than from many acres of cultivated land.

Regarding the result of stocking, the commissioners of this New England state say that the trout planted in the small rivers and brooks show a large increase, as do land-locked salmon, the black and Oswego bass, the wall-eyed pike, white fish, etc. Among the fishes named is the cisco or herring salmon, a delicious fish which somewhat resembles the white fish, but is much smaller, weighing from one to two pounds. Its flesh is pure white and of excellent flavor. This fish is one that ought to be introduced into the lakes and rivers of Oregon and Washington. In our judgment the black bass ought to be introduced in Oregon waters. It is most a valuable game and food fish. It is entirely superior to the Oregon trout as a game fish or for the table. Colonized in the Willamette, now chiefly inhabited by suckers, the black bass could live on the suckers and by its native habit would not penetrate to the head waters of the streams, where trout and salmon love to spawn. The black bass would naturally stay in the Willamette and Columbia around reefs and broad sandy bottoms. It would not interfere with the salmon or trout spawning up the streams, for the finest trout and salmon streams in Canada are in free communication with the St. Lawrence, which is full of black bass, pickerel and other predatory fishes, but they do not visit the spawning places of trout and salmon.

If the Oregon trout were exterminated to-day the black bass, if colonized, would furnish the state with a far finer food and game fish. For persons desiring to stock private waters the land-locked salmon, so successfully propagated at the East, ought to be an excellent fish in Oregon.

IN OLD ITHACA.

High license legislation is assailed in our legislature by a variety of enemies, open and covert, and their methods are the same that have been employed in other states. The prohibitionists, knowing that they are defeated, seek to discredit high license by working for the passage of a law that by the extravagance of some of its provisions is doomed to disgrace. That is an old vote trick of these so-called "reformers." If the people will not accept the prohibition, [illegible] the reformers then seek to make the high license law as bitter and odious as possible by passing either an act so loose in its provisions that it plays into the hands of the saloon, or by enacting a law so stringent that it is doomed to non-enforcement and evasion, because the exorbitant license exacted places a premium on illegal traffic. Then there are the friends of the liquor traffic who wish no legislation in the direction of high license. These persons seek to load down a conservative and efficient bill by provisions and amendments that are so odious to the friends of legitimate and practical reform as to make the passage of a desirable act impossible and leave the saloons absolute masters of the situation. The present aspect of the situation at Salem seems to suggest that between the "monkery" of the prohibitionists and the "monkery" of the friends of the saloon [illegible] the law is likely to drop between two stools.

Among other subjects of importance to be treated by the federal commissioner of education in his forthcoming report is that of the short-sightedness of school children. It is found that this defect in vision increases from the lower grades up, a fact that shows plainly that it is an acquired and not a congenital condition. Having discovered the effect, no effort should be spared to find the cause. [illegible] tions are that imperfectly lighted and ventilated school rooms are the chief enemies against which the eyes of school children have to contend. The intelligence that is behind the educational effort of to-day [illegible] to fall under reproach of this kind, hence a plain statement of the fact, supplemented by the findings of the commissioner, will no doubt lead in due time to a removal of the causes, whatever they may be, that make 11 3 per cent of school children short-sighted at the age of 17 years.

It so happens that Mr. Wilson, of [illegible], California, is at Salem this week. He is an old pioneer and was the originator of the bill that first passed the California legislature for the creation of the horticultural commission and served for years in connection with it. He is proud of his connection with horticulture that has produced so much good. He says that besides doing so much to prevent the ravages of insect pests it has helped to accumulate much valuable information that has been made known to fruit growers. He says the act has been productive of good in every way, and the people of that state cannot be induced to give up the benefits it secures them for any consideration possible.

The plea for a National Confederate Home in Texas will not and ought not to get any support from the North. Not because the North has any bad blood against the South, but because the South is amply able to tax herself to pay for her error, and if she does not think enough of the brave fellows who fought for the "Lost Cause" to take care of them how can she expect the enemies of the "Lost Cause" to care for them? The South was handsomely treated at the close of the war. Nobody was hanged, nobody's property was confiscated, and the North generously shared with the South the payment of the federal war debt, every cent of which ought to have been paid by the South, just as Bismarck forced France to pay an immense indemnity for the war she forced on Germany. The South forced a tremendous war upon the North, and she ought to have been obliged to pay every cent of the cost of it for her outrageous conduct. We spared their lives, spared their lands, but we ought to have made them pay our war debt.

They drove the whites off the reservation who had gone there to cut the wood, and for a day or two war appeared imminent. One of the Indians got shot in the neck with a rifle bullet, and several whites got shot in the neck in a saloon, and there the war ended. PILOTAGE AND TOWAGE.

Great Reduction Offered by General Manager Holcomb.

If the Northup Bill is Passed the Whole Present Cost Will Be Reduced Almost One Half

A special meeting of the Board of Trade was held yesterday at 10 A. M. in pursuance to a call by the secretary, Mr. [illegible] Arnold, to consider some very important matters in connection with the system of pilotage and towage on the Columbia river bar.

President P. C. Schuyler called the members to order, and after stating the object of the meeting invited attention to the following communication from Mr. W. H. Holcomb, manager of the O. R. & N. Company, to the Board of Trade relative to pilotage and towage matters.

MR. HOLCOMB'S LETTER.

PORTLAND, Feb. 6, 1889.

To the Board of Trade, Portland, Or.: Gentlemen: [illegible]

In the month of June [illegible] the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company published a towage and pilotage tariff and undertook to perform this service at rates very much less than ever charged here before. In so doing, this company has not only invested a large amount of capital on which it has received not a dollar of return, but has suffered in addition an actual pecuniary loss in the operation of its towing facilities. It has, however, done so cheerfully, believing that the time would come when the people would aid and they would cooperate fully with the company and enact such laws as would lift the burdens which are now pressing upon our commerce. [illegible] the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company has assumed the responsibility of providing the Columbia bar and river with towing facilities, it has labored under great disadvantages. It has met with persistent and bitter opposition; its methods of doing business have been willfully misrepresented to the people, and false statements have been continually made concerning its purpose and its relations to the commercial interests of the state. It has been accused of endeavoring to secure a monopoly of the business for the sole purpose of putting into effect increased rates and thereby fill its own coffers at the expense of the wheat producers. These false statements have, until now, remained unnoticed by the company, but they have gained credence to such an extent that it seems apparent that the eyes and ears of the public should be opened and our true position be made known.

The purpose of the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company to make its charges for both pilotage and towage on the Columbia bar and river, providing the law was so amended as to permit tug boats to employ pilots on an equal footing with the towing charges alone between Cape Flattery and Tacoma, has evidently not been credited, and the impression has become prevalent that a reduction of the pilotage charges would only result in transferring the present fees for pilotage from the pockets of the pilots into the treasury of the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company without effecting any reduction of the total charges. It has therefore become necessary to make plain to you our position with reference to the towage and pilotage services, and I submit below a tariff which the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company is ready to put into operation covering the charges to all foreign ships towed in the Columbia bar and river by our tugs and piloted by our pilots, provided the bill prepared by a committee appointed by your honorable body and introduced by Mr. Northup in the house of representatives of the legislature now in session and known as [illegible] is passed by the legislature as originally introduced and becomes law.

This proposed tariff would make the total cost of both towage and pilotage [illegible] schedule will be, and what the reduction will be on each class of ship.

[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Ships of [illegible]	$[illegible]	$[illegible]	$[illegible]
Ov 1000 tons [illegible]	900 00	[illegible]	[illegible]
Ov 1000 not exc [illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

Ov [illegible] not exc [illegible]	1 00 00	[illegible]	[illegible]

Eight tons of grain and its products [illegible] per ton.

Unless legislative action is taken so that [illegible] pilotage can be handled by pilots employed by tug boats, this [illegible] company [illegible] would necessitate performing the towage services absolutely for nothing, and this company would be put in a position where it would be a burden without [illegible] return. The proposed new tariff would not cover the actual cost of operating the towing facilities, and consequently would not allow the company any return on the capital invested, nothing for interest, extraordinary repairs, renewals, casualties nor depreciation.

The company is ready and hereby agrees to put the new tariff into operation immediately, provided the legislature enacts the law above-mentioned.

Very respectfully yours,

W. H. HOLCOMB,
General Manager.

OPINIONS OF MEMBERS.

Mayor DeLashmutt: It comes to me now, gentlemen, that a representation from this city should visit the capital to push the bill through and listen to no proposition to alter it, unless that alteration be to still further reduce the charges. I would make the fight on the river pilots and make it not compulsory to have them. They are the cause of our greatest trouble, the leeches upon our commerce. If a number of representatives of Portland would go to Salem and show the members of the legislature from out [illegible] the Northup bill, known as house bill No. 57, will effect them by raising the price of wheat nearly three cents per bushel, every member would vote for the bill. They have only to be made to see that fact clearly and the bill will pass.

The members of the legislature have largely thought that the Northup bill is an O. R. & N. Company measure to be made by the corporation a [illegible] monopoly. The Walla Walla man can sell his wheat in Tacoma and get three cents more per bushel for it there than he could get here, and the difference lies in the port charges. You must make the port charges less to get that business, and that is the very point this bill is calculated to reach. When the legislators have the matter fully explained to them they will agree with you and vote for the bill.

Ellis G. Hughes: Why can we not arrange the towage matter so that any company may hire pilots, provided the charges are no higher than those agreed to by the O. R. & N. Company? I think that would solve the problem. The opposition then between the O. R. & N. pilots and independent pilots would insure a good and a comparatively cheap service.

ASSISTANT MANAGER COOKINGHAM.

Mr. Albert Cookingham, assistant manager of the O. R. & N., entered, and said that the company had established their towage system at the solicitation of the board of trade simply to protect the commercial interest of the country. Rates had been reduced at great cost, and a still further reduction of one-half was guaranteed if the Northup bill is passed. It was the understanding when the company invested a quarter of a million dollars in the towage system, that proper legislation would be made to protect the commerce of the Columbia river against the strenuous effort of the sound to wrest it away.

Regarding the state pilot schooner Mr. Cookingham said he could make no authorized promise, but if any means could be devised whereby the company could be empowered to do so, he was satisfied it would take charge of the schooner and maintain it properly.

The question was next raised on the motion of C. P. Church to submit a brief set of resolutions to the legislature.

Mayor DeLashmutt suggested that the board adopt no resolutions at this meeting, but that the chair appoint a committee of twelve to go up to Salem at once and get to work to explain the true objects of this bill. Mr. Church's motion being withdrawn, that gentleman made a motion covering the mayor's suggestion.

Following is a list of the gentlemen appointed on this committee: J. C. Schuyler, H. W. Corbett, V. [illegible] DeLashmutt, W. S. Sibson, W. J. Burns, J. McCracken, A. Noyes, George Pope, F. Quackenbush, Ellis G. Hughes, G. W. Staver and C. P. Church.

THE STATE PILOT SCHOONER.

The question concerning the maintenance of the pilots' schooner next came up to be finally disposed of. Mayor DeLashmutt [illegible] [illegible]

New Cable Car Lines for Tacoma—More Real Estate Deals—The Port Townsend Seattle Railroad

TACOMA, Feb. 7.—Mr. Thomson, [illegible] of the cable roads of San Francisco, from which all the cable car lines of the country [illegible], was in this city yesterday figuring with the [illegible] Villard Schulze syndicate relative to the cable roads of this city. The capitalists of Tacoma recognize the fact that the City of Destiny is far [illegible] Seattle in rapid transit and something must be done to get [illegible] hilly streets. [illegible] son's work in Seattle has transformed that city into the liveliest looking place north of the Columbia river, and the new additions it has opened upon which residences are going up is amazing. People are satisfied to live three and four miles from the center of the city when they are assured of reaching their places of business in a few minutes and returning home just as easily. There are no street car lines up the hilly streets of Tacoma yet, and the avenues [illegible] very badly. The roads are [illegible] with mud. Seattle has the streets of [illegible] the city well planked, and [illegible] comparatively clean. The superiority of the down Sound city in this respect is spurring on the citizens here to do something in the way of paving before the 1st of next January and to lay iron rails up the hills from Pacific avenue westward.

The rush of people to secure office rooms where they can begin business is increasing every day. The streets of Tacoma and Seattle are crowded with men with a far away look in their faces. They are here and want to stay, and yet there are no places for many of them. [illegible] [illegible]

The teachers' meeting held at No. 2 school house Saturday was the best attended of the series so far. The house was full in the afternoon, and the discussions were interesting and instructive.

At the request of the teachers the forenoon was devoted to the discussion of expedients and devices for encouraging pupils to take more interest in writing. It was the opinion of a few that a judicious giving of prizes would encourage the pupils to better work. [illegible] with most excellent results. AND STILL ANOTHER HEARD FROM

Mr. Wm S Smith, writing from Greenville, Or., has the following suggestions to make with regard to clearing land of stumps:

I have read in your issue of February 1 an account of how to blow out stumps, together with several parties' experience, and I thought it might not be out of place to give my eight years' experience, or, at least, what I have learned in that time of how to burn out stumps and to clear up fir land generally.

In the first place, I bore and burn down the trees. For this purpose I use a common two inch augur, two and one-half feet long, for the upper hole, and a crank augur, of the same length, one and one-fourth inches in size for the lower or draught hole. I bore pretty deep, then fire with vine maple coals and fir bark and blow with a bellows. It also pays to bore another hole lower down so when the fire burns down to it it will save chopping out for draught, and is much easier done. This is the time of year for this kind of work, for not only does the fire not spread through the timber but you have it ready to burn when dry weather comes, and nearly everything except the large logs will burn up. The best of these are generally used for fencing, firewood, etc.; the rest, or such as are necessary, I generally use to burn the stumps out with, which I do in the following manner:

I first dig a trench around the stump from three to four feet wide, according to position of the roots and about one and one half feet deep. [illegible] [illegible]

ABOUT MR. SMITH'S PLAINT

What a Cable Railroad Stockholder Has to Remark on That Subject

[illegible], Feb. 7

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

I see that THE OREGONIAN has received a rebuke from Mr. Fremont Smith, the president of the corporation known as the Cable Railway Company. The cause of this rebuke was a paragraph in your local column stating that a meeting of the directors of said company had been held and that a special meeting of the stockholders had been called for the purpose of increasing the capital stock.

As this article was inserted gratis and further carried with it a fervent wish that the increase of capital stock would result in something more than an imaginary cable road, you may perhaps feel hurt that Mr. Smith has rebuked you for the "grossness" of the paragraph mentioned, especially as it was inserted at the request of one of the directors who felt jubilant over the prospect of some actual business being done. You have inserted in your local columns, the past year, various laudatory notices of this enterprise, all at the request of Mr. Smith or his confreres and all with a view of helping the project along, but I fail to see that any results have been reached, during that time, to entitle Mr. Smith or his directors to freedom from criticism.

On the contrary, judging from the amount of dissatisfaction constantly expressed by a large number of stockholders, it might well be concluded that the "chief error in judgment committed by the cable road management" was made when they undertook said management.

It is not to be assumed that a directorate, confessedly unable to run a stage coach with skill enough to make it pay for horse feed and driver's wages, can manage a cable road, (even were it built with other people's money) with energy and skill enough to pay interest on actual cost of construction, much less 7 per cent on a bonded debt of $100,000.

I will scarcely be necessary to apologize to Mr. Smith for [illegible] in criticizing the Cable Railway Company.

A STOCKHOLDER.

THE LEGISLATURE AND THE PILOT BILL

PORTLAND, Feb. 7, 1889.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

[illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] [illegible] If this present session of all wrong a [illegible] dictate what terms they want and must have from the shipping interests.

To bring it nearer home to the farmer in the country, let him think of it, that the legislature [illegible] a law which says for every ten [illegible] he has to drive he shall employ two men [illegible] [illegible]

Farmers and legislators, you can make up your minds that the pilots are making their fight for one reason and that is that they have a little fortune in the law in its present shape, which everyone of you are helping to pay and they do not want it removed. This alone is the sole object of their fight. On the other hand, what is the Portland Board of Trade fighting for? They are fighting to save their business and their property. They are fighting because they feel that under the present heavy charges the business is leaving the Columbia river and will continue to do so. Their interests are all in this state, and they are fighting to protect them. What interests have the pilots got? Possibly one or two of them may own a home in Astoria, but any one of them can pack up his blankets and go to sea to-morrow and the loss of the trade to this port is no serious matter to him. He is not looking further than a few years ahead. He does not care if the [illegible] shipping, because [illegible] time.

How many [illegible] [illegible]

It was admitted by the pilots a short time ago that they got the Washington territory legislature to pass a law prohibiting pilots from traveling on [illegible] so far as the Columbia river was concerned, but put no restriction on the pilot business of Puget Sound. What was the purpose of this? The purpose on behalf of the pilots was to keep up their monopoly on the Columbia river. The purpose on behalf of the Washington territory legislature was to handicap the Columbia river as far as possible and send the shipping business to Puget Sound. This shows whether the pilots have the business of this country at heart. At the same time it shows that the legislature of Washington territory are very careful not to put any tax on the free entrance of shipping on the Sound. Put the Columbia river on the same basis and Puget Sound will have all she can do to hold the trade she has now gained.

OTHER NEWS ITEMS.

One of the [illegible] stern packets had quite a picnic on board the other day. There were no less than seven baby carriages on the boat, with its usual occupant and each accompanied with its necessary attendant. As the purser, who is noted for his courtesy and attention to passengers, carefully assisted the last buggy off the boat, he looked expectantly around as he called out "Any more coming?"

ANOTHER BOAT.

The material for a new boat is on the ground, to be built by Mr. J. B. Montgomery. It will be of the same style as the steamer Cyclone, but larger and faster, and will run in conjunction with the above named boat—thus having a boat leave each landing every fifteen minutes. The increase of travel on the river has caused a demand for more accommodation.

UNAPPRECIATED LECTURES.

The lecture advertised to be given by Mason Long, the reformed gambler, Sunday evening, at Smithson's hall was poorly attended. This was the second attempt that he made to lecture here, without success. This does not speak very well for the temperance people of Albina.

WHEAT—The market is dull and shows but little improvement. Foreign cables indicate a stronger feeling, and Chicago markets opening weak, advanced rapidly, closing 2c better than opening quotations.

EGGS—The market is heavily overloaded. Quote 18c.

The situation remains about as it has been since the 1st of the month of January, that is dull and inactive, except perhaps that owners are not so confident of their position. Early in the month 50s was asked, and the J. N. Marr, a wood bottom, spot charter, brought 47s 6d, but it was understood at the time that her charterers needed her badly. In port now is the disengaged American bark C. S. Hulbert, holding for 45s, but it is hardly probable that she will get it. Charters opening the month at a nominal rate of 50s, closed at a nominal rate of 47s 6d, but the latter figure could not have been got for the last two weeks of the month except for small from close at hand. The following is a statement of the registered tonnage of the port:

In port—Disengaged	1,035
Loading engaged	6,917
Ready for sea	1,167
On the way—Due February	14,963
Later on	11,388
Total tonnage due	26,351

SALMON—It is reported that heavy sales of the British Columbia salmon pack have been made, to the extent of 75,000 cases, but the price is still a matter of conjecture, as the terms are private and have not yet been made known. One brand of Columbia river salmon has just brought $1 57½ talls and $1 67 flats, export. These are prices for the opening sales of the season.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—The stock market to-day again gave evidence of a broadening tendency, and except for a slight setback, continued strong all day, closing at the best figures. As usual of late, all marked advances were in low-priced shares and inactive stocks, led by Pullman, which rapidly mounted, crossing 200 and showing at its best figure, a gain of over 6 per cent. The open prices were generally from ⅛ to ½ per cent. above those of last evening, and further fractional gains were established in the early trading. The close was active and strong at the best prices of the day.

Government bonds were dull and firm.

SAN FRANCISCO MARKETS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 7.—Produce receipts, past 24 hours, include 4900 ctls wheat, 12,500 qr sks flour, 2200 sks potatoes; 4700 ctls barley.

Freights—Transactions in grain vessels during the past week were confined to the Ger bark Fortuna, iron, 951 tons, chartered at 40s for U. K., Havre or Antwerp, and the wooden ship Francis 1974 tons, for Liverpool direct, taken at 33s 9d. A number of vessels having prior engagements, arrived in during the week, quite sufficient to supply the present demand, and include the following: Br ship Haddon Hall, iron, 1416 tons for U. K., Havre or Antwerp at 42s 6d; Br ship City of Florence, iron, 1200 tons, U. K., Havre or Antwerp, at 42s 6d; Br ship Honolulu, same options, at 35s; Ital. bark Pietro B, 848 tons, private.

In coal and lumber freights, quite a number of charters were written. Coal freights are weaker, owing to the decline in coal, the latest engagement reported being the ship Commodore for coal from Departure bay to San Francisco.

Wheat—The volume of spot business done during the week was fair and prices are 2½c per cental higher. The improved tone of foreign markets has stiffened holders views and offerings are smaller. A number of sellers however, took advantage of the improvement and parted with their product at $1 40. As a rule, vessels arriving under prior engagement have cargoes secured, consequently the demand at present is more speculative than pressing. Options—Call board dealings were quite brisk and prices are about 2½c higher than the corresponding time last week. To-day's sales were: 100 tons buyer year at $1 48; 200 tons at $1 48¼; 1700 tons at $1 48⅛; buyer season $1 44¾.

Afternoon session, buyer year opened $1 48¼, closed $1 48½; buyer season closed $1 45; seller new year closed $1 39.

Barley—The market is firm with a good demand both for spot and future delivery. Good descriptions of feed and brewing qualities are getting scarce and values have improved 2½@4c during the week; choice feed 82½c; common to good 77½@80c; brewing 85c@$1. Options—Buyer season 80⅝c. Closed, 86c buyer season; 94⅛c buyer year.

Oats—Receipts are steadily decreasing and supplies show some reduction. Holders therefore are firmer in their views and the undertone is stronger, although prices can hardly be quoted higher. No 1 and choice feed $1 18@1 12½; common and good feed $1@1 07½; milling $1 15@1 17½.

Millstuffs—Supplies have been liberal and buyers were enabled to fill wants on easy terms. To-day there is an improved feeling and indications point to an advance. Bran, all kinds, $13@15 per ton; middlings, all kinds, $14@17 per ton.

Potatoes—Heavy receipts, mainly of Oregon product, have depressed the market and prices favor buyers. Burbanks, 50@75c; Peerless, 30@60c; Garnet Chile, 40@60c.

Hops—Quiet but steady. Foreign and Eastern markets are in better shape and local dealers are in hopes of a more active movement and better prices in the near future. Quote 13@16½c as extremes for 1888.

Wool—Stocks small and movement very light. Holders of choice stock show little disposition to part with their holdings at market quotations. Eastern Oregon, 14@16c.

primary points past twenty-four hours were 77,500 bushels; shipments for same time, 85,000 bushels.

Wheat opened dull and easier, but rallied before closing and closed strong. Quotations throughout the day were as follows: Opening, 98¾c February, 99¾c May, 89⅝c July. Noon—97⅛c February, $1 01⅛ May, 90c July. Closed, strong, 98⅛c February, $1 01½ May, 90⅛c July.

EUGENE CITY NEWS NOTES.

Weather—Petition Being Circulated—Found Dead—Very Prosperous—Public Schools.

Activity in real estate continues, with a slight tendency to boom prices.

EUGENE CITY, Feb. 6.—The weather here, is finer than other portions of the world knows about.

Mr. W. A. Purdy, an old citizen of the county, was found dead in his hop field, near this city, last Sunday. Heart disease was the supposed cause of death.

The unusually warm winter has set people to thinking of summer comforts, hence we are to have an ice factory ready for operation by the time the season opens.

Mr. James Belvale, for many years a citizen of Eugene, sold his residence a few days since, settled up his business, and left between two days, without the knowledge of his family, taking nearly all his money with him, and in other ways indicating that he has gone to stay.

The closing up of leap year contracts continues to keep up life in the matrimonial market; as a portion of the latest returns we note the marriage of Mr. J. W. Shumate, of this city, and Miss Emma Vaughan, of Coburg, and a Mr. Huston, of Roseburg, and Miss Ella McGlanahan, of this city.

The public schools of this city are in the finest condition in their history. Professor Williams has proved to be the right man for the principal's position. The directors will be forced to provide another building soon, as some of the departments are now so crowded as to require the adoption of the half-day system.

Mr. George Armitage and some other prominent democratic leaders of the county are circulating a petition to the legislature, asking permission to issue non-taxable bonds to enable us to build a decent courthouse and jail. It is receiving unanimous support, which is rather a curious commentary on the position of our worthy governor and a few of our legislators.

Messrs. J. W. Eagan & Co. have leased the O'Brien hall in this city and fitted it up for a theater. It is yet a mooted question whether it is to be first-class or on the variety style; if the latter, for which it seems to be arranged, it will not pay a very heavy per cent. on the investment, as the floating population is too small; but if good plays can be put on at the popular prices offered, it will doubtless be well patronized.

Our city is in the most prosperous condition in its history. Several years of active yet healthy growth have recently been enjoyed and the certainties for the coming year are more numerous than any in the past. At least four good brick business blocks will be erected, besides a large number of handsome residences. There is not a vacant business room in the city, and some firms will be forced to occupy tents, or close up, while their old wooden buildings are being replaced.

NOTES FROM CHEHALIS.

CHEHALIS, W. T., Feb. 7, 1889.

Another addition to Chehalis was platted yesterday, making eight within the past eight months.

Two divorces were granted by this court, Cyrus Allred from Milly M. Allred, and J. H. Long from Mary Long.

District court, which convened Monday, will finish to-day. But one criminal case was tried, that of John Albert, for stealing a gun; verdict of guilty.

Leadinghaus brothers commenced work on their new sawmill this week and will bring it to completion. Three new business houses are in course of erection, and five dwellings.

A car load of Texans left their homes in the land of long-horned cattle on the 6th inst. for Chehalis to join friends already here. Texas is becoming well represented in Lewis county.

County orders are selling for 90 cents only because there is no one buying. The local money is all in real estate and there is no one here from the outside. At last term orders brought a premium of 1 per cent., and the county is fully as able to meet demands now.

The following foreign born persons were made full citizens of the United States; Joseph Hill, native of England; David Hill, John Cook, James Young, Alexander Kerr; George R. Wilton, same nativity; Herman Voyelpaph, Germany; H. A. Hartyman and John Delfil, of Sweden, and Evert Kipers, Holland; Michael Ward, James Curran, Michael Finn, natives of Ireland; Daniel S. Mitchell, Alex Fraser, Alfred Morris, natives of England.

The public schools opened this week with 168 pupils, and there are at least fifty more now here to attend. The directors are already worrying about the capacity of their new $10,000 school house for the next winter's school. As it is not yet finished it might be a good idea to enlarge it before the actual need comes. Quite a number of farmers are preparing to spend next winter in town to school their children, and with the natural increase of population a house with a capacity of 600 will be small enough.

The grand jury in the case of the territory vs. Thomas Toegher, arrested on complaint of a conductor for shooting Thomas Smith, while intoxicated, on board a train between Centralia and Chehalis, found "not a true bill." The jury found a true bill against Frank Reed for carrying a concealed weapon, but the case will not be tried this term. A bill was also found against James Bartlett and William Dunlap for robbing the jewelry store here nearly a year ago, but as the accused crawled out of our jail when they got well rested from their long tramp from the scenes of profit and trouble, there is no likelihood of their ever being tried. There is not a prisoner in the jail here.

OREGON ITEMS.

Baker City's gas works are now in operation, and the Democrat tells the Standard Oil Company to "take a back seat."

S. P. Lowell is putting up at Eugene City an establishment for making ice. It is to be in operation May 1, and will turn out two tons a day.

Pendleton's committee reports that the total cost of getting Hunt's railway to that place, including subsidy and right of way, will be $35,000.

Hon. D. P. Thompson has written to the Wasco Sun that though he is an owner in The Dalles Water Works, he will vote for The Dalles water bill and work for it.

Says The Dalles Sun: Max Vogt has ordered 500,000 feet of lumber from Portland, to be used in his new buildings, and this will not be sufficient. He was unable to get the lumber here. The buildings will take over 100,000 feet of flooring alone.

A fatal accident is reported at Alsea. Two boys, Otto Taylor and James Seage, aged 15 and 17 years, respectively, were out hunting with Winchester rifles. The dogs that accompanied them got into a fight, and in the efforts of Taylor to separate them, his gun was discharged and the contents lodged in his comrade's head, causing almost instant death.

Messrs. Geer & Allen have started a creamery of their own at Silverton, and turn eight pounds of butter out of 100 pounds of new milk. They use the centrifugal process, by which the cream is separated from the sweet milk and butter made from the sweet cream. It is probably the De Laval separator. Oregon is gradually improving, and butter is being made from so many ways that we may hope soon to see all importation stop, and have the satisfaction of producing enough at least for home use.

W. A. Purdy was found dead near Eugene city on the opposite side of the Willamette river last Sunday morning. At 8 o'clock that morning he had started on horseback to go to his home near Coburg. Later in the day his body was found by James Bilimire lying by the roadside. There were no bruises on him or bones broken, and there was nothing to indicate that the horse had thrown him off. When found he was lying with his face down and his arms bent back. The condition of the body showed that either heart disease or apoplexy was the cause of death.

TWO QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

ROSLYN, Feb. 5.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Will you please inform me through THE WEEKLY OREGONIAN whether there is a government land office in the Harney valley country or not, and also give me the name of some reliable person living there.

GEORGE COVERDALE.

[A land office has lately been established at Drewsey, Grant county, for the convenience of the Harney valley people. It is probably ready for business by this time. Mr. A. W. Waters, formerly United States marshal for Oregon, is a resident of Drewsey.]

LEXINGTON, Or., Feb. 2.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Please answer in THE WEEKLY OREGONIAN the following questions for the information of settlers:

First—When are pre-emptions and homesteads first taxable—when a settler makes his final proof or when he receives a deed of the land?

Second—Is a person taxed on the property he has the day he is assessed, or on the property he has on a certain day of the year.

SETTLER.

[THE OREGONIAN is asked for information on such subjects frequently, and is always willing to give the best information it has in regard to them; but it must be borne in mind that THE OREGONIAN is not a court, and cannot guarantee that its decisions will be sustained by the supreme court.

The general understanding is that when a man is entitled to a deed or patent for land he is entitled to be assessed and taxed for it.

As soon as a man has proved up on his pre-emption, and is entitled to a patent, the land is taxable.

A homestead will be taxable when the residence is completed.

A person is taxed on the property in his possession when the assessment is made.]

THE THISTLE PEST.

CHADWELL, Feb. 6.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Anyone would think there was no pest in the world but the Canada thistle, after reading your thistle article last week. But allow me to tell you that the most sublime pest that the world ever saw exists right here. It is the Canada bull thistle. It made its first appearance here five years ago, and now every farm is covered with it. It is an annual. The stalk dies after it goes to seed. Where one goes to seed a thousand will come up the next year. Here on the rich bottom land they grow from three to six feet high and a single plant will weigh fifty pounds! Some farmers destroy them, yet their neighbors will cover them with seed every year.

Will our representatives from Clatsop county see that this pest is added to Mr. Dimick's bill? It is the heaviest tax we have to pay.

D. J. INGALLS.

Stone in the Kidney.

I was first taken with sharp pains in the lower part of my bowels in the region of the bladder. Shortly blood appeared mixed with my urine, and a few weeks later I had an attack of gravel. I tried a number of doctors. One said it was gravel, another and another stone in Kidney. For three months I was under the care of an eminent doctor at Albany, but constantly growing worse, went home to die. At this time I was induced to try Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondout, N. Y., and am now robust and strong. A remedy which can do this for one so near death as I was should be known everywhere. I hope this statement will cause others afflicted as I was to use the Remedy.—C. W. Brown, Petersburg, N. Y.

TRADE S.S.S. FOR THE BLOOD MARK

An Important Announcement

About six weeks ago, while at business, I was suddenly attacked with excruciating pains in my feet, knees and hands. So severe the attack that I took my bed immediately, and in two or three days my joints were swollen to almost double their natural size, and sleep was driven from me. After suffering the most excruciating pain for a week, using liniments and various other remedies, a friend who sympathised with my helpless condition, said to me:

"Why don't you get Swift's Specific and use it. I will guarantee a cure, and if it does not the medicine shall cost you nothing."

I at once secured the S. S. S., and after using it the first day, had a quiet night and refreshing sleep. In a week I felt greatly benefitted. In three weeks I could sit up and walk about the room, and after using six bottles I was out and able to go to business. Since then I have been regularly at my post of duty, and stand on my feet from nine to ten hours a day, and am entirely free from pain. These are the plain and simple facts in my case, and I will cheerfully answer all inquiries relative thereto, either in person or by mail.

THOMAS MARKHILIN,
11 W. 18th street, New York City.

NASHVILLE, TENN.—I have warded off a severe attack of rheumatism by a timely resort to Swift's Specific. In all cases where a permanent relief is sought this medicine commends itself for a constitutional treatment that thoroughly eradicates the seeds of disease from the system.

REV. W. P. HARRISON, D. D.

NEW YORK, 51 7TH AVE.—After spending $200 to be relieved of Blood Poison without any benefit, a few bottles of Swift's Specific worked a perfect cure.

C. PORTER.

VIENNA, GA.—My little girl, aged six, and boy, aged four years, had scrofula in the worst aggravated shape. They were puny and sickly. To-day they are healthy and robust, all the result of taking S. S. S.

JON T. COLLIER.

LADY LAKE, SUMTER CO., FLA.—Your S. S. S. has proved a wonderful success in my case. The cancer on my face, no doubt, would have soon hurried me to my grave. I do think it is wonderful, and has no equal.

What Scott's Emulsion Has Done!

Over 25 Pounds Gain in Ten Weeks. Experience of a Prominent Citizen.

THE CALIFORNIA SOCIETY FOR THE SUPPRESSION OF VICE,
SAN FRANCISCO, July 7th, 1886.

I took a severe cold upon my chest and lungs and did not give it proper attention; it developed into bronchitis, and in the fall of the same year I was threatened with consumption. Physicians ordered me to a more congenial climate, and I came to San Francisco. Soon after my arrival I commenced taking Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites regularly three times a day. In ten weeks my avoirdupois went from 155 to 180 pounds and over; the cough meantime ceased. C. R. BENNETT.

WAS FINED FOR POLYGAMY.

The Grand Jury Have Indicted Charles Stuart Trippler for Forgery.

Ten Days More Allowed—Case Dismissed—Not Guilty—Attachment Suit—The Gamblers—Police Court—Grand Jury's Work.

The case of Edward A. Batwell who a short time ago gained such unenviable notoriety as a result of being too numerously married, yesterday came to a termination by the lowest fine prescribed by the statute being imposed upon the defendant. The charge against Batwell was polygamy. A true bill was returned by the grand jury, but rather than stand trial upon this charge, and give further publicity to the case the defendant entered plea of guilty. Batwell appeared before Judge Stearns for sentence yesterday afternoon and promptly paid the fine of $300 imposed by his honor.

According to Hill's Code, the following are the several penalties for the crime of polygamy:

If any person having a husband or wife living shall marry another person or live and cohabit with another person as husband or wife, such person shall be deemed guilty of polygamy, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary not less than one year nor more than four years, or by imprisonment in the county jail not less than six months nor more than one year, or by fine not less than $300 nor more than $1000.

TRUE BILL AGAINST TRIPPLER.

The grand jury, after working on the forgery case against Charles Stuart Trippler for nearly two days, yesterday returned a true bill. This was a great surprise to the many friends of the prisoner, who have been doing all in their power to secure the old man's release. One prominent Grand Army man stated that he had been given to understand that no indictment would be found, and when he was apprised of the result he could scarcely believe it. It was thought that the jury would receive instructions to dismiss the case on ground of insanity.

As this was not done and a true bill was found against him, there is nothing left for him but to submit to the course of the law and, if found guilty, take his punishment the same as any other man.

It is stated that the wife of Trippler and other of his relatives are on their way to this city. They are ready to refund whatever money was fraudulently obtained by the prisoner, and take him either to an asylum or some other place where he can regain a normal use of his deranged faculties. Trippler was to be arraigned this morning, but certain of his friends stated that they will make an effort to have his arraignment postponed at least until the arrival of his friends from San Francisco.

WORK OF THE GRAND JURY.

The grand jury yesterday morning again resumed their labors on several important cases under consideration. The vacancy made by the excused juryman, John Mock, was filled by selecting E. Himmons to serve in his place, and at 10 30 o'clock that body retired to its chambers for deliberation.

At 4 20 o'clock in the afternoon the grand jury reported, bringing in five true bills.

Charles Stuart Trippler was indicted for forgery.

Edward A Batwell was indicted for polygamy.

H C Brown and Thomas Bates were indicted for carrying on and conducting gambling games.

TWO GAMBLERS INDICTED.

There is a strong determination shown by the authorities to again make it warm for the gamblers. The knights of the green cloth have enjoyed comparative peace and quietude for some time. Their games have been running without molestation, and it is safe to presume that most of the gambling house keepers have made money. The recent raids made by the police on the Holton, Crystal Palace and Banquet saloons have been but preliminary steps towards a more general closing up of all gambling resorts which will be attempted. The grand jury yesterday found true bills against H. C Brown and Thomas Bates for conducting games of chance. The defendants were placed under $300 bonds.

CIVIL CASES BEFORE JUSTICE TUTTLE.

The following civil actions have been commenced in Justice Tuttle's court:

Charles Schmid vs. John Eupen for the recovery of $30, one month's rent on house.

J B Montgomery vs. W D O'Reagan, for the recovery of a buggy valued at $90.

A. Ferrera vs. A. Vascovitch, for recovery of $86 04, balance due on bill for merchandise.

George Guistin & Co, vs. A Vascovitch for the recovery of $130 15, amount due for merchandise delivered to defendant.

Nicolo Vucasovitch vs. A Vascovitch, for the recovery of $230, amount due for services rendered.

BEFORE JUDGE TANNER.

The following cases were disposed of yesterday afternoon by Judge Tanner in the police court: Ferdinand Anderson, arrested by Officer Belcher for discharging firearms in the city limits, forfeited bail; Frank Spores arraigned on the complaint of William Scott for larceny, was discharged on paying costs; George Cain, accused of assault on the person of Ah Wah, found not guilty; Ah Wah, arrested for striking George Cain fined $10; L. O Williams, accused of obtaining money under false pretenses from Dr Stominskle, was held to answer before the grand jury in the sum of $100.

FROM ONE JAIL TO ANOTHER.

Wasco Charlie, an Indian, convicted by Judge Deady on a charge of selling liquor to one of his fellow countrymen, was yesterday taken from the county jail to The Dalles, where he will serve out a sentence of thirty days. Charlie has been in the county jail for about ten days, and when he received word that he was about to be taken out, he became highly jubilant. Notwithstanding the fact that he was to be taken out of this jail only to occupy a cell in another one at The Dalles, he paced back and forth in the corridor gaily whistling and singing as if he were about to go forth a free man.

HE WAS FINED $100.

In the U S. district court yesterday, Chas. Kellogg was arraigned to answer to a charge of acting as a pilot without having a license so to do. The complaint alleges that on the 9th of last November, and at various other times between that date and December 10 he took charge of the steamer known as the Joseph Kellogg, which ran on the Willamette and Columbia rivers, and handled her as master. Mr Kellogg entered a plea of guilty and was fined $100 which he paid and was discharged.

GRANTED TEN DAYS MORE.

Counsel for Chee Gong, the convicted murderer of Lee Yick, yesterday made application in Judge Stearns's court for a continuance of ten days in which to file a motion for a new trial. Attorney Woods having been absent from the city, has not had the time to prepare a bill of exceptions, and the request was accordingly granted. An order was made to that effect.

ROSEWARN VS. TAYLOR.

The plaintiff's reply to the answer in the case of Samuel Rosewarn vs. Joseph Taylor was filed yesterday afternoon in Justice Phelan's court. The trial takes place to-day. This is the suit in which the plaintiff undertakes to recover wages in the sum of $100, for work rendered defendant during the months of December and January.

O'BRIEN NOT GUILTY.

John O'Brien had an examination in Justice Tuttle's court yesterday afternoon, on a charge of assault and battery on Charles Schmid. The case occupied the court several hours, and finally resulted in the defendant being discharged. The testimony did not bear out the allegations of complainant.

WANT TO BECOME AMERICAN CITIZENS.

Fred Egg, a subject of the republic of Switzerland, and Charles Leipelt, a subject of the emperor of Germany, yesterday filed declarations of intention of becoming citizens of the United States.

ANOTHER ATTACHMENT SUIT.

In the state circuit court yesterday Carroll & Carroll began an attachment suit against Steinhardt & Grealy to recover $313 20 balance due on a bill of goods sold defendants December 20, 1888.

CASE DISMISSED.

The case of Gus Schwebel, charged with assault and battery on John Flemming, was dismissed in Justice Tuttle's court yesterday afternoon.

WILL FORM A PARTNERSHIP.

Freimann's cafe when opened will eclipse any restaurant on the coast.

MR. G. W. HUNT INTERVIEWED.

He Talks About His System of Railroads—He Says He is a Good Friend to Portland.

Mr G W Hunt, president of the Oregon & Washington Territory Railroad Company and principal owner of the road, was found by a reporter at the Esmond last evening.

"What are the prospects for your building the proposed road to Waitsburg and Dayton?" was asked.

"Very good," was the reply, "the people of Dayton have raised the subsidy required, and the Waitsburg people say they will raise the subsidy required of them. If they do, I will build the line."

"How about the road into Pendleton?"

"The Pendleton people say they will raise the subsidy without doubt. If they do, they will have a road in short order."

"How long will it take to build into Pendleton?"

"About ninety days. My line is now within six miles of the town."

"Have you been East since you were here?"

"No I had so much to do and so many things to attend to, that I have not been able to get away yet, but I expect to leave Wallula next Tuesday evening."

"When do you leave Portland?"

"I shall start for Tacoma Friday evening, and for the benefit of any one who may wish to find me you may say that I shall be at Wallula Saturday, Pendleton Sunday evening, Walla Walla Monday and get to Wallula Tuesday to start East."

"How long will you be gone?"

"I expect to meet my family at Chicago. They will go on with me to New York, and we shall return in about a month to settle at Walla Walla."

"I suppose you can then be considered as devoted to the interests of the Sound country and hostile to Portland."

"Oh, no! I have many friends in Portland and have no hostility to the place and do not wish to injure it. In building my system of railroads I aim to develop the country and to benefit both the Sound towns and Portland. This is a large country and a rich one, and there is room in it for all the towns to grow and prosper. Of course my interests are identified with those of Eastern Oregon and Washington, but while I work for their interests I do not work against Portland. By developing the country Portland will be made to grow faster and I expect to see it become a large city. Time brings many strange things about and some day Portland will realize that I am a good friend to it instead of an enemy."

SHIPS, STEAMERS, BARKS AND TUGS

Bark Auguste Arrived From Lower California—Steamer Oregon To Be Released From Quarantine—Other River Items.

The iron bark Auguste with Captain Isenfeldt commanding is in the river, and will probably reach her dock some time to-day. This bark was formerly owned by the English government and was then known as the Victoria Cross, and with an English ship named Victoria Nyanza carried the first consignment of railroad iron to this coast from the United Kingdom. She is quite an old packet ship, being 25 years old but nevertheless is considered as staunch as ever. This is her second voyage to Portland, and she has come this time in ballast, to take on a cargo of wheat for England. She came from Santa Rosalia, on the gulf of Lower California. The trip was made in thirty four days, and the only difficulty in the passage was the number of days the vessel was becalmed. Upon being questioned by a reporter Captain Isenfeldt, who preceded his ship from Astoria, said that during the entire voyage the main royal sail was not taken in. There is, at least in the case of a sailing vessel, such a thing as too fine weather, and the Auguste appears to have experienced this. The bark is now owned by a German named Nicholl, the same capitalist who owns the J H Nicholl, the ship that sailed from here two weeks ago.

The Dixie Thompson went to Astoria last night to take on board the steerage passengers of the Oregon. The smallpox case turned out to be varioloid, and the patient afflicted with it was taken to the pesthouse at Astoria several days ago, and as the disease was solely confined to the steerage, the health officer signified his willingness to let the Oregon continue on her way to Portland, if the O R & N company would send a boat down and remain in quarantine with the steerage passengers. The Dixie Thompson has been comfortably fitted up for the accommodation of the passengers and a good supply of provisions placed on board. The probability is she will be kept in quarantine the full length of time which is about fourteen days. The Oregon will arrive at her dock some time to-day.

The Oregon Pacific boats are doing a large amount of spring trade on the Upper Willamette. In talking with one of the officials of the company it was learned that there is a decided increase in the demand for general merchandise up the valley over the same period last year. This evidently shows a healthy state of affairs, and a filling up of the country with immigrants.

The steam collier Willamette will be inspected to-morrow (Saturday). The inspecting officer being sick at the Sound she was obliged to come to Portland for her papers.

The renovation of the Mikado has been completed and she will commence running on the old route this morning.

The steamer Oswego passed an excellent inspection yesterday morning and will continue to ply on the same line.

The Queen of Cambria entered the Columbia river at 1 P M yesterday.

At 9 30 A M yesterday the Danube crossed over the bar, outward bound.

DISAPPEARANCE ACCOUNTED FOR.

The Belief Gaining Ground That Vascovitch Left to Avoid Anxious Creditors.

Nothing has yet been heard of the whereabouts of A Vascovitch whose strange disappearance from his place of business on Washington and Ninth streets, was noted two days ago. One thing that has developed since his sudden departure, is the fact that he was heavily in debt. In Judge Shattuck's court Levy the Front street commission merchant, brought an attachment suit for the sum of $402 50. In Justice Tuttle's court A. Ferrera brings suit for $86 04, George Guistin & Co for $130 15 and Nicoli Vucasiovitch his clerk, for $230 due for wages. By these figures it is seen that already liabilities amounting to $848 69 have come to light, while there probably are still more creditors to hear from.

This indebtedness, for the size of the store and amount of business probably done, is sufficient to knock all the "mystery and strangeness" out of the disappearance. A man carrying that amount of debt naturally may be expected to disappear and there is nothing strange about it either. It has been done before—as a business coup d'etat.

Some who have held the opinion that Vascovitch was foully dealt with are now changing their minds, and begin to believe that the more reasonable explanation of his sudden and unannounced departure is the financial embarrassment into which his business had fallen.

SHIPPING CHARGES

A Crushing Answer to False and Silly Statements.

PORTLAND, Or., Feb 7

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

The Astorian of yesterday had a column article regarding the disbursements of the German bark J H Nicolai. The article was headed "A Few Figures That May be of Some Interest to the Members of the Legislature." The charter of this vessel was fixed by us, and she came to our consignment at Portland.

The criticism of the Astorian of the charges made is very misleading to those not acquainted with shipping business. Two items of this vessel's account are singled out in prominent type, viz.:

First—Towage from sea to Portland and to sea, including pilotage, $950.

Second—Commission for charter gross freight of 14?4 tons at 5 per cent. on £388 10 at $4 81 per pound sterling in Portland $89 47.

Regarding the first item of $950: Out of this amount $411 was paid for pilotage on bar and river and rebated to the vessel by the O R & N Co., leaving $539 for payment for services of tugs and steamers on bar and river.

Regarding the second item of $89 47—commissions: It is the custom on all grain charters at San Francisco, Tacoma or any port in the world to allow these commissions. They are part and parcel of the price paid for the freight on the vessel. The 5 per cent is divided in almost every charter as follows, viz: Two and a half per cent. to the charterers, 1¼ per cent. returned to owners of vessel, 1¼ per cent between the local brokers and their correspondents in Europe. This was the case in the charter of the J H Nicolai and we only share in the last 1¼ per cent. item.

There is one other item we wish to comment on; the Astorian has it "Escorting captain to custom house in Portland $50." This charge relates to what is termed "port agency" and is customary in all ports. It covers custom house work, advice to master of vessel on all questions relating to the fulfillment of the terms of charter, disbursing for vessel, that is paying all bills incurred while in port and furnishing master and owners with detailed accounts and vouchers.

We have fixed a number of vessels the past two years to load at Tacoma. The commission charges are exactly the same as at Portland. The port agency on Puget sound is the same and is paid to the firms at Tacoma or Port Townsend who disburse the vessels.

We may also mention that we have fixed several vessels in the past few years to Astoria parties to load at Astoria and the commission terms were the same as at Portland. Yours truly,

A LONG, LONG SEPARATION.

Romantic Story of Three Brothers and Two Sisters—The Reunion Saddened by Death.

> "But pleasures are like poppies spread,
> We seize the flower, its bloom is shed."
> —Burns

A meeting took place in this city a short time since between three brothers long separated which bid fair to be a source of great pleasure to them all, but pleasure has been changed to sadness by the unexpected death of one of the three.

The story of the parting and meeting of these brothers is quite a romance, and is one of thousands of a similar nature arising from the civil war.

In 1861 there lived in Iowa a Mr Klouchek, who had three sons. The oldest, named Joseph, 19 years of age, enlisted in the Twenty-second Iowa regiment in that year and went to the war, leaving his brothers—Charles aged 16, and Frank, only 7 months old—at home.

He returned to his home in three years to find the family gone and although he advertised for information concerning them could hear nothing of them, and finally settled in Michigan City, Ind., where he married and is now in business as a contractor.

It may be said here that his parents moved to Missouri shortly after he went to the war, and, not hearing from him gave him up for dead. His brother Charles soon after he left home, started for this coast, and after various wanderings settled in Portland. He was in the employ of Dr Olsen for fifteen years when he went into business as a grocer at Sixteenth and T streets. A few years ago his father came out here leaving the youngest son Frank, on the ranch in Missouri and about a year ago died at McMinnville.

A year ago last August Mr Joseph Klouchek happened into a saloon in Michigan City, kept by a man named Hanibel, formerly of this city. There he picked up a copy of THE OREGONIAN and the first thing he noticed was a paragraph about one H. McDonald being arrested in this city for stealing a sack of potatoes and an ax from Charles Klouchek, grocer.

He at once wrote to the sheriff and others making inquiries about the man whom he thought might be his long lost brother and soon found that such was the case. He then corresponded with his brother here and finally came to Portland a few weeks since on a visit to him. Charles had written to his brother Frank in Missouri to come out and go into business with him and a short time after the older brother came here he arrived also. He was much surprised when introduced to his older brother who had not seen him for nearly twenty nine years, when he was only a baby and whom he had supposed dead ever since he was big enough to suppose anything. The reunion of these brothers so strangely brought about, was a great pleasure to them all but their pleasure was soon marred by the youngest one taking sick and, after a brief illness dying on Wednesday morning of congestion of the lungs.

To increase the sorrow of the families Mr Charles Klouchek was taken sick a few days after his brother and yesterday was considered in a critical condition.

Mr Joseph Klouchek had determined to start for home some days since but has been detained by the trouble and has grave fears of having to attend the funerals of both brothers he came so far to see.

A remarkable thing about these three brothers is that they were all born on the Fourth of July. Two in Austria and one in this country. Mr Joseph on his way home will visit two sisters whom he has never seen as they were born after he left for the war.

BETTER PROTECTION FROM FIRE.

New Hydrants, Escapes, Stand Pipes, Jumping Nets, Etc.

Fire hydrants have been placed along Corbett street every other block clear out to Second avenue and Chief Engineer Morgan says he can now do something toward protecting property in that part of the city and can even, in an emergency, throw water over the line into the country.

The chief will endeavor to have an ordinance passed to prevent people from using fire hydrants without his supervision. Persons are sometimes allowed to take water from a hydrant, and through carelessness injure the screw by which the hose is attached and set up the valve so tight that it is difficult to get it open when there is a fire.

Chief Morgan will again bring before the council the matter of fire escapes and stand pipes for high buildings and will have an ordinance introduced providing that all high buildings hereafter erected shall be provided with these. He says that all buildings of four stories or more should have escape ladders like the one on the Skidmore block and that a pipe should run up by the side of these with which hose could be connected at every floor.

The big hotel he says should have at least eight of these escapes and stand pipes. As many new buildings are to be erected here this summer and some of these high ones, he thinks it is time some action was taken in this matter. He also contemplates procuring two or three jumping nets which can be held for persons to jump from high windows in case of fires.

SHEEP RAISING IN THE NORTHWEST

What an Extensive Dealer Told a Reporter Yesterday—The Cattle Kings Are Men of the Past.

J Anderson, an extensive dealer in sheep at Victoria, B C, is in the city and was interviewed yesterday by a reporter in reference to the business. He said he sheep used in that section of the country were mostly taken from Eastern Oregon and just at present the traffic was augmented considerably by the great number of people flocking to his coast.

Over 3000 sheep from the plains of Oregon he said are now at Ellensburgh W T and that a general proportion to many other places along the coast. The cattle men have virtually been driven from this state by the sheep men, and in his estimation they would never again acquire the strong foothold they so long possessed. The ranges have been cut up so that the business has become decidedly unprofitable. In a short time there would be no great extent of territory where the cattle could run at large. As great a number as 6000 sheep have been shipped to Chicago in a very short time by the firm of Butler & Anderson.

To show the increased demand for these animals about 4000 a month are now required to supply the demand in the Northwest, excluding Oregon, as against 500 per month seven years ago. In the neighborhood of Westminster, Vancouver and Victoria B C more than 1200 a year are butchered. The Yakima valley is now being used for sheep raising in localities as much as the ranges east of the Cascades, but the disadvantage there is that the country on account of the lay of the land is cut up to a considerable extent. The same conditions are slowly manifesting themselves this side of the Columbia.

Mr Anderson was enabled some time ago in buying any number of sheep within five miles of The Dalles but now it is impossible to be done within thirty miles, showing that the land is being occupied by farmers, who are even taking the land away from the sheepmen. The Oregon plains and Yakima valley will furnish the entire Northwest with sheep for many years to come and probably for an indefinite time, but the day of extensive cattle dealing is past.

THE GEORGIA MINSTRELS

Next Monday this combination of burnt cork performers will commence a week's engagement at New Park theater. Speaking of the show the Virginia City Enterprise of February 2, says:

The colored folks gave a good show last night. Some of them, if actual burnt-cork performers would stand at the top of their profession. The fact that their color will wash seems to carry with it the impression with many people that they can not be good nigger minstrels but an exhibition of their talent dissipates this mistaken belief. The voices of the quartette are excellent and their singing entitled them to the genuine applause that they received. The end men, especially Kersands, are good and it is doubtful if any one ever saw bigger mouths or bolder dancing than the audience laughed at last night. It might be well for those who reverse the operation of gilding the lily, by touching their faces with an extra shade of black to see that their hands have an equally sun-tanned shade, but this is a small defect easily overlooked.

Huff, who plays the harmonica as though it was an entire brass band with a chorus attachment of babies birds cats etc, is a remarkable performer. Even the trick playing is artistic and the air that he plays with the instrument in his mouth using nothing but his tongue to stop the different notes is a difficult one to ordinary players who use their hands in sliding the harmonica. It is a toy but in the hands or rather in the mouth of Huff the little mouth organ takes rank as an instrument of higher order.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent for publication to THE OREGONIAN.

A Bullet in His Head.

RICHMOND, Va., Feb 7.—Captain James F Waller, secretary to Governor Lee, was found dead in his office at the state capitol this morning with a bullet in his head and a revolver by his side. No cause is known for the act.

Be at his grand opening Saturday. Freimann surprises even himself.

FREIMANN'S ELEGANT CAFE.

The Most Elegantly Appointed Public Room on the Coast.

Over $3000 Spent in Improvement Alone Here—Elegant Statuary—The Richest Finishing and Costly Frescoing.

Who is there in the Northwest to-day that has ever visited Portland and has not heard of Freimann? The first question that the weary traveler invariably asks in landing in the city is: "Where can I get something to eat?" and the reply always is, "why of course at Freimann's!" Freimann not only stands at the head of successful caterers on the coast at the present writing, but he has the well earned reputation of being one of the most popular men in Pacific Northwest. It is known that Freimann never fails. It was Freimann who first demonstrated that a first class restaurant would pay in Portland. It was Freimann who succeeded in localities where others have made only signal failures and it is Freimann who has the credit of being able to make a restaurant pay were his base of operations confined to the Arctic regions alone and his only customers there the hardy Esquimo. It is certain if the denizens of the far regions to the North had a stray nickel in the pockets of his well worn jeans the table that Freimann alone could set would not only capture the heart of the shivering individual but his nickle as well.

The proprietor of the elegant restaurant on the corner of First and Oak streets came to Portland the last time, after an extensive tour of the world, in the fall of '84. After a long and fruitless search for a better location he finally rented the room midway between Front and First streets on Oak. Although an out-of-the-way place at the time the well earned reputation of Freimann soon came to his rescue and he met here with even greater success than he had been led to anticipate. He started out with two assistants and had four. It was not long until he had six and [illegible] the present time he gives constant employment in his establishment to twenty five. As he increased his working force he was compelled to enlarge his quarters. First he contented himself and attended to the wants of his customers in a single room 25x50 feet in dimensions. It was not long until he used double that space and to-day he occupies the entire building, covering a [illegible] x 100 feet with entrances from both First and Oak streets.

It was this progressive spirit that was the winning card of Freimann's. Nothing that tended in the least to the comfort of his patrons was neglected, no matter what the cost might be. No delicacy that the market afforded was omitted from his bill of fare, no matter how expensive. Freimann always had the first strawberries of the season. He paid 50 cents per pound for the first Columbia river smelt in the market. He always had grouse, pheasant, quail, spring chicken and even frogs, mountain trout and other delicacies if it was possible to obtain them in the market at any cost. He employed the best cooks at the highest salaries paid and he kept none but the most experienced and attentive waiters, and in all that went to make up a strictly first-class restaurant Freimann was ever even abreast of the times.

The present article is purposed to dwell particularly on the recent improvements that have been added to this fine resort. On the completion of this work now nearly done Portland can boast of the finest appointed restaurant and cafe on the coast. It is the annex to this restaurant that is specially worthy of attention here. This is by far the finest fitted public room in the Northwest. Nowhere else is there seen such statuary as is seen here. The ceilings are marvels of beauty. A faint appreciation of the beauty of this work can be had when it is stated that more than two months' time was spent in the fresco work of a single ceiling alone. The effect of the rich decorated window work, together with the elegant fresco work of the sides and ceilings, and the rich furnishing of the rooms all reflected from the fine French mirrors, is beyond description. It can be said that nowhere else in America is there a room used as a cafe that can in the least excel this for the rich furnishing and pleasing effect.

Freimann's elegantly appointed place is now divided into separate apartments, each of which is complete in itself. First of these is his main dining room with the entrance on First street, 20x[illegible] feet in dimensions. Separated from this large room by a partition is the ladies apartment, which is subdivided into sixteen smaller apartments each lighted by both gas and electricity. This portion of his establishment is so arranged that it can be thrown into one large apartment by the simple sliding of folding doors thus giving ample room for large banquets. The culinary part of the house is specially worthy of mention here. In charge of this department is Bernard Sargoos employed at a princely salary, and who has the reputation of being the finest artist in his line on the coast. The assistant chef, Jules Small, is always in charge of the culinary department in the absence of the chef. The annex, the most elegantly furnished part of the house, is under the management of Mr J. L. Kopp, a gentleman who in the past five years has fitted up no less than seven houses of the kind in the United States. This is an elegantly appointed room as before announced, the floor being laid with the best Italian marble, the mirrors on the walls being of the best French plate, three-quarters of an inch thick and the walls and ceilings decorated by the best artists.

A short description of the fresco work and painting of the cafe may not be inappropriate here. The main tints on the ceiling work are four shades of blue. The main decorations and figures on the sides were [illegible] imported from New York direct and are fresco [illegible]. The [illegible] work on the ceilings and sides is [illegible] of [illegible] plants, birds and flowers. The [illegible] work, both interior and exterior, is old mahogany and gold, and is very rich in appearance. All this is the result of the labor of Berger & Bock, the painters who have the contract of all the painting and decorative work on the immense building of the North Pacific Industrial Fair Association. The two large panel paintings on the outside of the building are marvels of art. One represents an emblem, with the name of Freimann displayed to striking advantage across its face. The other represents a marble hall, in the center of which stands a table containing delicious fruit and refreshments. The entire work of decorating this fine annex reflects great credit on artist Kaulbach and his employers Berger & Bock, are to be congratulated on the fine work that he has accomplished here.

The elegant cafe of Freimann's will be thrown open to the public to-morrow evening at 5 o'clock and a cordial invitation is extended to the public to be present. Portland without doubt, now has the finest resort of this kind on the coast and this will go far towards advertising the advantages of the city abroad. Both Freimann and the city are to be congratulated on the completion and opening of this elegant cafe.

FROM MAYOR DE LASHMUTT

PORTLAND, Or Feb 7

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

It seems to me that by far the most important measure before the present legislature is the bill relating to pilotage, towage etc. The issue is simply this: According to universal custom among railroads as well as existing arrangements between the Northern Pacific railroad and the O. R & N Co. Portland and Tacoma are common points, and the rates therefor from Eastern Oregon and Eastern Washington territory on wheat and other freights, is the same, and must of necessity remain the same. Therefore, it becomes necessary to place wheat aboard ship and get it to the open sea from Portland, at exactly the same cost that it does from Sound ports, and the O. R. & N Co are compelled to bring this state of affairs about in order to hold the trade as against the Northern Pacific. And this is why the O R. & N Co are so urgently seeking to furnish us with reduced pilotage and other port charges. Through a series of years our port charges have become exorbitant and it is only by opposition and through dire necessity that existing combinations can be broken and they reduced to the lowest possible cost. The O. R. & N Co are forced to furnish us this service at one-half present cost or at the same cost that it is now had on the Sound, no matter whether the conditions are equal or not, and it remains for this legislature to so amend existing laws as to make it possible for them to perform the service as cheaply as it is had on the Sound. To the farmer it means from 3 to 4 cents per bushel more for his wheat to the transportation lines. It means the continuance of the handling of the freights and to Oregon it means the supremacy of the shipping trade of the North Pacific coast. Against all this is the individual interests of a few pilots and boarding house keepers, whose lobbyists have hitherto secured such legislation as to give our port the unsavory reputation of possessing the worst abuses known to exist in any port of any magnitude in the civilized world.

Shippers are paying about 3 cents per bushel more for wheat at Tacoma than they are at Portland. And if this legislature adjourns without passing a law to make it possible to equalize this difference they will have made a great mistake. The true state of affairs is not understood except by those directly engaged in the business. When it becomes generally known by the farmers of the Willamette valley as it is now known by the farmers east of the mountains, that the extra cost of 3 cents per bushel, for these port charges are deducted from every bushel of wheat shipped from the Columbia river, then they will awake to the full realization of the fact that they have been imposed upon, and those who, knowing these facts neglect to use their endeavors to correct the evil will and should be held to a strict accountability for such neglect. VAN B. DELASHMUTT

Chronic Pleurisy Cured.

I. K. Callen, Garfield, Pawnee Co, Kansas, writes: "I have been for some years troubled with pleuretic pains in my left side, which came on in the beginning of winter and are so severe that I am confined to the house. During the past winter I used two ALLCOCK'S PLASTERS on my left side and after the first week all pain left me and I was perfectly able to attend to my business. After wearing them two weeks, I would wash them off with a little alcohol and then go two or three weeks perfectly well. I have only had to put them on three times during the past winter and must say ALLCOCK'S PLASTERS are all that they are represented to be."

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

ABSOLUTELY PURE.

For quick raising, the Royal Baking Powder is superior to all other leavening agents. It is absolutely pure and wholesome and of the highest leavening power. It is always uniform in strength and quality and never fails to make light, sweet, most palatable and nutritive food. Bread, biscuits, muffins, cake, etc., raised with Royal Baking Powder may be eaten hot without distressing results to the most delicate digestive organs. It will keep in any climate without deterioration.

Prof. H. A. Mott, U. S. Government Chemist, after examining officially the principal baking powders of the country, reported:

"The Royal Baking Powder is absolutely pure, for I have so found it in many tests made both for that company and the United States Government.

"Because of the facilities that company have for obtaining perfectly pure cream of tartar, and for other reasons dependent upon the proper proportions of the same, and the method of its preparation, the Royal Baking Powder is undoubtedly the purest and most reliable baking powder offered to the public.
